THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 17, 1871.

SUMNER TO MAKE A PERSONAL EXPLANATION.

It is said that Senator Sumner will take an early opportunity to make a personal explanation in the Senate with reference to the relations between himself and Secretary Fish. It is understood the speech will contain some interesting revelations concerning the management of matters in the State Department, and that Mr. Sumner will be severe on the President.

THE SENATORIAL CAUCUS.

A caucus meeting of Republican Senators was held at eleven o'clock this morning, to consider Senator Robertson's proposition that the order of business be so amended as to permit action to be taken this session on the House General Amnesty bill. The discussion which was conducted under the five minutes rule, was opened by Mr. Robertson in advocacy of the propriety, justice and expediency of enacting a law for General Amnesty at as early a day as possible. Senators Sawyer, Sherman, Lewis, Buckingham, Logan and Wilson also supported the proposition for immediate and favorable action on the subject, Senators Chandler, Morton, Scott and Edmunds opposed the movement for General Amnesty at this time, arguing that it was inexpedient, unwise and uncalled for. Finally, after a session of nearly an hour, on motion of Senator Rice, the proposition of Senator Robertson was laid on the table by a vote of twenty against sixteen, thus defeating the measure for this session.

This disturbance is now felt at the Rocky Mountain stations. The temperature has risen rapidly, with falling pressure in Missouri and Nebraska. Cloudy and threatening weather, with fresh northeast winds have prevailed from Lake Erie to Lake Superior. The highest pressure now exists over Lake Erie. The clouds have been broken up in the eastern States, and partially cloudy and clear weather have prevailed on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Probabilities—It is probable that a storm will be developed by Tuesday morning in the Missouri Valley and westward. Northeast winds and threatening weather are probable for the lakes on Thursday. Threatening weather in the lower Mississippi valley is probable. No serious disturbance is probable for the Atlantic coast.

OFF FOR EUROPE.

Gen. Spinner has recovered from his late serious illness. He has been tendered the South American Mission, with a view of recruiting his health, but declined. The suggestion was subsequently made by the President and concurred in by Secretary Boutwell and other members of the Cabinet that his presence and advice in Europe in connection with the new loan would be of great use to the government, accordingly General Spinner has consented to visit Europe on that business, intending to be absent several months, and will visit the principal cities, including London, Frankfort on Main, Vienna and Berlin. He will leave this country towards the last of the present month.

Assistant Secretary Richardson will also visit Europe on similar business after the new bonds shall have been prepared.

THE PRESIDENT IN FAVOR OF AMNESTY.

The Tribune's special says that just after the New Hampshire election a high Government official called on the President to recommend in his message about the Ku Klux, that a bill to provide for suppressing disorder in the South be accompanied by general amnesty. The President gave the gentleman to understand that personally he thought a generous policy the best one, but he seriously doubted that the people were ready for it.

WAITED ON THE PRESIDENT.

The Ku-Klux bill was received from the House.

Mr. TRUMBULL moved that the Senate recede from the three amendments non-concurred in by the House.

Mr. SHERMAN said he had been informed that the objection in the House to the amendment to assign the damage upon the localities in which outrages were committed was mainly to one clause which would probably be acceptable to the House in a modified form

Mr. CASSERLY called attention to the fact that these amendments had been disagreed to in the House by a large majority.

Mr. CONKLING thought that the fact ought not to be allowed to influence the Senate, so long as reasons for the action of the House were unknown.

Mr. TRUMBULL'S motion was rejected—ayes, 17; nays, 33. The Republicans voting in the affirmative were Caldwell, Hill, Robertson, Schurz, Trumbull and Wright.

On motion of Mr. EDMUNDS the bill was referred to a Committee of Conference, consisting of Messrs. Edmunds, Sherman and Stevenson.

A Committee of Conference was also ordered on the disagreeing votes of the two houses on the deficiency appropriation bill. Messrs. Cole, Morrill, of Vermont, and Bayard were appointed on the committee.

Mr. WILSON moved to extend the use of the Senate Chamber to the National Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, to meet in Washington May 24th, 1871.

Mr. COLE objected and the resolution was not received.

Mr. MORRILL of Vermont, moved that the Committee on Public Buildings have leave to sit during the recess, their presence being necessary because of work on the new State Department building. Agreed to.

REDUCING TAXATION.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the following preamble and resolution offered last Monday by Mr. Bell of New Hampshire:

WHEREAS, The Government of the United States was established by the people for their own protection and benefit, and should be administered on the strictest principles of frugality and economy in its expenditures, and that no money should be taken from the people by taxation except to supply the necessary wants of the Government administered upon such principles.

AND WHEREAS, The money annually raised by taxation upon the people should not exceed the sum $250,000,000 said sum being amply sufficient to provide for the ordinary expenses of the government, the payment of the interests of the public debt and part to the liquidating of the interest of said debt therefore be it

Resolved, That this House disapproves inordinate taxation to pay off the immense sums of the public debt as heretofore practised by the Secretary of the Treasury and would limit the sum for the principal of said debt to twenty-five million.

Mr. COX who drew up the resolution moved to lay it on the table for the purpose as he said of having a test vote upon it, intending himself to vote against the motion.

The House refused to lay the resolution on the table—yeas 3, nays 159. The affirmative votes being given by Maynard Sprague and Taffe.

The House refused to second the previous question on the adoption of the resolution 65 to 51 and Mr. MAYNARD having risen to debate the resolution it went over under the rule.

The speaker appointed Dawes, Kelley and Beck a conference Committee on the deficiency bill.

Mr. WILLARD offered a resolution authorizing the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to sit during the approaching vacation for the purpose of determining, in conjunction with the Senate committee the kind of stone to be used in the construction of the new State Department and to employ a clerk. The vote on the second reading under the previous question was taken by tellers.

After the affirmative vote was taken, those who were opposed to the resolution, refrained from voting under the lead of Mr. Garfield. There was therefore no quorum voting, the vote being 103 to 8.

A call of the House was therefore ordered and had, when 175 members answered to their names, and all further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

The morning hour expired and the resolution went over until next Monday.

Other bills were introduced and referred as follows:

Mr. STARKWEATHER, providing for a Commission to determine the claims for damages committed on American commerce by the Alabama, Shenandoah, Florida, Georgia and other British cruisers.

Mr. COBURN sent to the Clerk's desk and had read a telegram announcing the murder on the 15th of April of two Deputy Marshals of the United States, in White county, Tennessee, while attempting to serve a process.

Mr. BROOKS, of New York, remarked that it was a whisky affair and not political, as the gentleman from Indiana sought to convey the impression.

Mr. COBURN—Does that justify murders?

Mr. RANDALL remarked that it arose from a raid on a distillery.

Mr. KINSELLA moved to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution requesting the President to have the case of Fenien prisoners incarrcetated in Canada presented to the Joint High Commission to the end that their release be effected. Negatived, yeas 94, nays 60 not two-thirds in the affirmative.

CHICAGO, April 17.—The Nebraska State Lunatic Asylum at Lincoln was burned to the ground this morning. Two inmates are supposed to have perished in the ruins, one of whom was chained in his cell. Loss $150,000; insured for $100,000.

BROKE JAIL.

DROWNED.

Four men were drowned on Thursday last at Sauk City, Wisconsin, while trying to run a raft under a bridge. Names unknown.

BURNED TO DEATH.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNED.

The Legislature of Illinois adjourned today to meet in Chicago on the 15th of November next.

MISSING.

On Friday last two young men named Valentine Barthenny and John Seifert, belonging in Peoria, went on a gunning excursion on the sloughs near that city. Since then nothing has been heard from them, but a cap belonging to one has been found and also an oar, leading to the conviction that both have been drowned.

RUN OVER.

James Horner, teamster in the employ of Downer, Bemis & Co., was thrown from his wagon yesterday, the wheels of which passed over him, inflicting injuries from which he deid last night.

CLEVELAND.

Passing Counterfeits.

CLEVELAND, April 17.—A man named D. K. Bissell was arrested here to-day charged with passing counterfeit National Bank note currency. In default of $1,500 he was committed to jail.

SIX CARS OVER HIM.

A little boy named McGrate while playing on the track of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad fell under some moving cars and had one foot cut completely off, six cars having passed over it.

DISGRACEFUL ROW.

There were several very disgraceful rows in the ciy yesterday. In endeavoring to take the desperadoes into custody the police were assaulted with stones and missiles which enabled some of the rascals to escape. They were subsequently arrested however and lodged in the station house.

BEN WADE FOR GOVERNOR.

There is a strong feeling among the more prominent Republicans to press Ben Wade for Governor and a vigorous effort will be made by Mr. Wade's friends to induce him to run.

ST. LOUIS.

A Mysterious Murder.

ST. LOUIS, April 17.—The body of a murdered man was found in a shallow grave, partially covered with large stones, near the Quarantine Hospital, thirteen miles below this city, on Saturday. Papers were found on his body addressed to Captain Charles H. West, of Company E, Sixth Mississippi Infantry, and signed by George T. Balch. Other papers were found, referring to Mr. West as Captain of the Fifty-eighth Colored Infantry. One of these was from the Quartermaster's Department at Washington, stating that his returns had been found correct, and that his resignation had been accepted. This was dated in 1864. The skull of the deceased was badly fractured. There is no clue to the murderer.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Henry L. Hart, a well known citizen of Louisiana, Pike county, Missouri, shot and killed William Dangston, a somewhat notorious character, on Saturday. Criminal connection on the part of Dangston with Hart's wife was the cause of the shooting. Hart was arrested and gave bonds.

FRANCE.

INCESSANT FIRING.

NEW YORK, April 17.—A special dispatch to the Tribune from Paris on Sunday says the firing has been incessant during the past forty-eight hours.

PARIS COMPLETELY INVESTED.

The Government at Versailles says Paris is completely invested, and that a summons to surrender in forty-eight hours will be sent. There is great excitement in the city and the Commune suddenly allows free circulation in the streets and at railway stations without passes.

OPENING OF THE CITY GATES.

Most of the city gates are opened. Military reports are very highly colored.

SUNDAY NIGHT'S ATTACK.

General Cluseret says the attack was extremely vigorous last night, principally against Vanvres, which was obliged to sustain five consecutive assaults. Ambulances were seen carrying off the dead and wounded of the assailants.

The Eighty-sixth Battalion merits mention for admirable conduct at Nuilly.

PARIS TO BE REDUCED IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS.

The combat continues, foot by foot, each house having to be besieged and the troops being ordered to storm them.

The Versailles government talks of reducing Paris within twenty-four hours. Let powder carry the answer.

Gen. Endes, commander of the southern forts, says all seems finished. The night has been terrible and the battle incessant.

From six o'clock in the evening Vanvres bore most violent assaults.

The Royalist's loss is enormous. They were repulsed along the whole line. It was a complete victory for the Communists.

Our men fought like lions, especially Ledrux, Governor of Vanvres.

The semi-official journals say that 1,000 soldiers were killed at Vanvres, and several hundred taken prisoners at Nuilly.

DOMBROWSKI WOUNDED.

There was no loss among the Parisians except Dombrowski, who is slightly wounded.

FRESH ELECTIONS.

Fresh Commune elections are being held and they excite but little interest. A decree of the Commune places all the railways under its control and obliges them to produce their books and accounts, if required, for inspection.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Another special correspondent telegraphed from Paris yesterday afternoon as follows: Yesterday morning attacks were made on Porte Dauphine, which continued all day. The quarter of the Champs Elysees has been exceedingly damaged by the shells which are still falling thickly.

STRUCK BY SHELLS.

The building occupied by the American Legation was struck by the fragment of a shell on Saturday. Nevertheless Washburne continues to reside in the avenue Josephine. Barricades were then ordered to be erected immediately, in the quarters of the Tuileries and Belleville, which will render Paris impregnable to the assaults of the Versaillists.

THE FIRING CONTINUES.

The same correspondent telegraphed late last night that there has been firing in various directions all day. I saw a shell strike the Arch de Triomphe, and much damage has been done. It has been struck by thirty-three shells in all.

THE GAY CITY.

The Champs are full of people, carriages and omnibusses nearly fill up the arch, stalls are opened and Punch and Judy shows are exhibited; crowds are moving to and fro in holiday attire; and groupes are gathered together and pay but little attention to the bombardment.

WASHBURNE'S FAMILY LEAVE PARIS.

The family of Minister Washburne have left Paris.

A STATE OF SIEGE TO BE DECLARED.

It is anticipated that all the railway lines will be cut to-morrow and a state of siege declared, as there are only provisions enough in Paris to last three weeks.

FURIOUS FIGHTING.

Another correspondent telegraphs that he saw fighting which was furious only a few thousand yards from Paris. He was subsequently arrested and came near being shot. Six persons arrested as Royalists were shot in the morning. It is reckoned that during the last two days the Versaillists lost 1,000 killed and 1,500 wounded. All persons are now allowed to leave the city without permits except men between the ages of nineteen and forty.

THE PONTIFICAL ZOUAVES ENGAGED.

PARIS, April 17.—Last night passed quietly. The Pontifical Zouaves were engaged at close quarters yesterday at Nuilly by the Communist troops. The latter were successful and captured some colors. The spirit of the troops is good.

COMMUNIST DECREES.

A Communist decree provides for methodical requisitions upon the inhabitants of Paris, street by street. Another decree convokes a synodical chamber in order to draft statistics of the abandoned workshops and to arrange for their reopening by workmen who are not proprietors.

GERMAN OCCUPATION.

LONDON, April 17.—The Germans have occupied Saint Ouen sur Seine, two kilometres South of St. Denis and seven kilometres from Paris. It is believed that Blanque now controls all affairs of the Commune.

TWENTY-FOUR HOURS TO SURRENDER.

A dispatch from Versailles says the Government has given Paris twenty-four hours to surrender.

CIRCULAR BY THIERS.

M. Thiers issued a circular on the evening of the 16th as follows: The Paris insurgents are emptying their houses and selling their furniture. The government continues to temporize for the purpose of collecting an irresistible force and also to allow the prisoners to reflect. The insurgents say we shoot prisoners and intend to overthrow the Republic and to suppress and subsidize the National Guards. These statements are false. There was some cannonading to-day but it was without result, otherwise the military affairs are quiet and nothing of interest has occurred.

THE END.

The correspondence of the Independence Belge says the end approaches.

DISASTROUS TO THE COMMUNISTS.

The affair at Asnieres was disastrous to the Communists whose lines are filled with their dead. The Versailles forces are within one kilometre of the Ponte des Terres.

TRYING TRAITORS.

A dispatch from Marseilles says the trials of the Communist leaders are proceeding. Crineux's wife has sent a petition to President Thiers asking for pardon for her husband.

CANNONADING GOING ON

PARIS, Monday Evening, via LONDON, April 18, 3:30 A. M.—Cannonading and rifle firing are going on at Nuilly and Porte Des Terres, and the sound seems to be nearing the city.

Nuilly is still warmly contested.

URGING A TRUCE.

A rumor is afloat that representatives of the United States, England and Italy are jointly urging the Commune to agree to a truce.

INVESTIGATION.

Some National Guards having invaded the Hotel of the Belgian Embassy, an immediate investigation has been ordered and arrests been made.

ELECTED.

Minotti Garibaldi has been elected a member of the Commune. The elections were a fiasco, few persons voting.

The Commune has instituted a general court-martial.

[Tribune Special.]

EXTENDING THEIR LINES.

PARIS, April 16.—The Versailles troops are spreading around the city. They have been discovered in strength at Gennevilliers, and are extending their lines to St. Denis. A new barricade has been erected near the centre of the Place Vendome. The demolition of the column has been postponed until after the cessation of hostilities.

ENGLAND.

STEAMER ARRIVED.

LONDON, April 17.—The steamship Colorado touched Queenstown yesterday.

THE JOINT HIGH COMMISSION.

The Times to-day has the leading editorial upon the report as to the labors of the High Commission. It says the case of the Alabama has always created a feeling of insecurity in England and has demoralized American parties. We hail the possible settlement and think that the arbitrators will acquit England of responsibility for the deeds of the Alabama. The Times adds that the Alabama was partially fitted out at Azores and hence Portugal is liable to our experiences. The Times evidently is not sanguine as to the immediate settlements of the question for it warns the British public that it is very uncertain whether the treaty will be ratified by the American Senate.

A FAILURE.

The demonstration in Hyde Park yesterday in favor of the Paris insurgents was a failure.

LONDON, April 17.—A dispatch from Melbourne, March 28th, says that all the Australian colonies are fortifying their ports, in consequence of a warning said to have come from the Home Government that a descent upon them is threatened by American filibusters.

Note.—The Australians have probably been hoaxed by some practical joker.—EDS.

Political Tragedy in Japan—A Narrow Escape—The Texas Pacific Railroad—Sudden Deaths—Quick Trans-Atlantic Passage.

NEW YORK, April 17, 1871.

THE QUICKEST TRANSATLANTIC PASSAGE.

The steamship Scandinavia, from Liverpool on the 7th, and Londonderry on the 8th, arrived yesterday morning, having made the quickest passage ever made between the two ports. She brings over eight hundred passengers.

POLITICAL TRAGEDY IN JAPAN.

Correspondents writing from Yeddo, Japan, say that a most startling political tragedy occurred in that city on the 27th of February. About one o'clock in the morning the residence of Hirosawa Hioskiasangi, a member of the highest board of the Government, and one of the most distinguished, enlightened and progressive statesmen of Japan, was broken open by a band of armed men, who forced their way to the chamber where Hioskiasangi slept, and cut him to pieces with their swords. His house stands in the heart of Yeddo, and within a few rods of one of the guarded gates leading to the Mikado's castle, but the assassins succeeded in escaping before the alarm could be given. The assassination was undoubtedly inspired from political motives.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Yesterday at the Catholic Church of St. Mary, Williamsburg, there was a narrow escape from a terrible tragedy. A procession of young girls, each carrying a lighted taper, entered the church while a priest was baptizing a number of converts. Suddenly the flame of a candle held by one of the girls set fire to her veil, and the flames spread from veil to veil until some twelve of the children were on fire. Happily, though, by the presence of mind of those present the flames were extinguished before the girls were seriously burned.

THE TEXAS PACIFIC.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, for the purpose of electing Directors, Marshall O. Roberts occupied the chair. A resolution was adopted postponing the election for directors until a meeting be called by the President after fifteen days notice given in the papers in New Orleans, Washington, Memphis, Philadelphia and New York; also a notification by mail to each stock holder. The Treasurer was ordered to invest $200,000 in government bonds or make a deposit drawing interest, before the meeting. The Treasurer issued receipts for ten per cent. of the premiums paid in subscribed stock.

COLLISION ON THE ERIE.

About two o'clock yesterday morning a disastrous collision occurred on the Erie Railroad near Weehawken. A train from the cattle-yards at Fort Lee met a train bound for oil at the docks on the single track just south of Weehawken. The engines, together with four oil cars and three cattle cars, were completely wrecked, entailing a loss of $25,000. Michael Hanlon, one of the engineers, was terribly scalded and a fireman in leaping from the train fell and sustained severe injuries.

SUDDEN DEATH.

The Coroner yesterday held an inquest on the body of the man who fell dead Saturday evening on the corner of Twenty-sixth street and Fourth avenue. The body was identified as that of the Rev. Jas. Bradley, Saginaw City, Michigan. Some time since Bradley was appointed by the Methodists of his own State as their missionary agent to the Chippewa Indians. He was on his way to Washington to have the appointment confirmed.

MEXICO.

Death of the ex-President.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 11, via HAVANA.—Martin Carera, ex-President of Mexico, is dead.

POLITICAL.

Jaurez is gaining ground in his campaign for the Presidency. He proposes that the election for President in future be directed by the people and not through an Electoral College. The several parties accuse each other of endeavoring to bring Mexico under the American flag. Romero, Minister of Finance, Mejia, Minister of War, Babcarcel, Minister of the Interior, and Saaveda, Minister of Justice, have been impeached and will be tried before the Supreme Court. The condemnation of the Ministers is considered certain, as the Supreme Court, over which Tejada (himself a candidate for President in opposition to Juarez) presides, is regarded as strongly partisan. Many things not done under the law, it is said, can also be proven against them.

Fifty-two public journals advocate the re-election of Juarez, forty favor Diaz, and ten have pronounced for Tejada. General Sanchez Ocho has been appointed Minister to Washington.

EPIDEMICS.

Malignant croup and measles have become epidemic in Durango. The deaths from these diseases average thirty per day.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

An attempt to assassinate a political leader in Morelos has caused fresh trouble there. The chiefs of bands of assassins, it is believed, were hired by two members of the Legislature, Cuadra and Robelo. Both have been arrested.

LAW REFORMS.

The Government proposes to introduce reforms in the laws which shall be applicable to all the States of the Republic. Among the changes to be made is one that within church buildings civil authorities shall be powerless, while outside their churches the clergy shall be officially powerless.

LOUISVILLE.

Death of Judge Marshal.

LOUISVILLE, April 17.—The death of Judge Thomas A. Marshal last night was appropriately announced in the Courts of this city today and received with various marks of respect to his memory. He was one of the most distinguished jurists of Kentucky, and has been nearly forty years in public life, twenty-two as Judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

OUR BEST medical advisers tell us that, when in health, children for the first month should sleep two-thirds of the time, and then a little less, and so on, until about fifteen months old, when their sleep should be about twelve hours in twenty-four. The mother's bosom is the best resting place for the infant, and though in the daytime the child may be placed in the crib, at night it should lie in its mother's arms. In cold weather particularly, the heat generated by sleeping with its mother is essential to its best state of health.

LIFE OF JENNY LIND.

Expensive Reproduction of a Personal Item--Libels on Miss Lind's Husband.

[From the London Echo, March 31.

At the Kingston Assizes yesterday, the case of Goldschmidt vs. Wyman was tried. This was an action for libel brought by Mr. Otto Goldschmidt, the husband of the celebrated cantatrice Jenny Lind, against the defendant, the printer and publisher of a weekly newspaper called Public Opinion.

"JENNY LIND.—We take the following paragraph from Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly of the 7th inst., published in New York: 'Jenny Lind's husband has at length run through the splendid fortune with which she retired from the lyric stage, and she is compelled to teach music for a living. The ill-mated pair have separated by mutual consent, and the spendthrift must now shift for himself.'"

The Solicitor General, in opening the case, said that nineteen or twenty years ago Mr. Goldschmidt married his present wife. It was a marriage of affection, and they had lived together ever since, united in bonds of the heartiest affection. The fortune which Mme. Goldschmidt possessed was settled upon her at the time of the marriage, and since then it has been largely increased, and the whole had been practically under her control. They had lived in a moderate and prudent manner and if there had been an excessive expenditure at all, it had been entirely in connection with those munificent and splendid acts of charity and generosity with which the name of Mme. Goldschmidt would always be indissolubly associated.

M'ME. LIND-GOLDSCHMIDT said she was a native of Sweden. In 1852 she married Mr. Otto Goldschmidt, who had assisted her at concerts in America. For some years they lived at Dresden, and in 1858 they came to reside permanently in England. Since 1862 they had lived at Wimbledon. They had always resided together, and had three children. Prior to her marriage she was possessed of some fortune, which was legally settled upon her. Her husband had most judiciously assisted in the management of her property. She always had a clear knowledge of everything connected with it. Her fortune remained intact and unspent, and and since the marriage they had earned a considerable sum of money. That still remained unspent, and was under the care of her former guardian. She had the most perfect freedom in regard to her property, and Mr. Goldschmidt had lived in a simple and inexpensive manner. His amusements and occupations had never been separated from those of the family. There had never been any pretense for saying that she and her husband were ill-matched, and they had never been separated, except when she had been away for her health. They had been continually persecuted since their marriage, and Mr. Goldschmidt had been treated almost as though he were a scoundrel. They had been on intimate terms with persons of the highest position, many of whom were in Court.

Mr. Otto Goldschmidt gave corroborative testimony. He had never been addicted to gambling. He had never been near a gambling-table or billiard-table, nor had he ever had time for such pursuits. He had no extravagant habits. Every year a proportion of their income was set apart for Mme. Goldschmidt, and two years ago the whole of that amount had been vested for her in the names of trustees. Mme. Goldschmidt possessed at the present moment more than double the amount of property she had at the time of marrying.

The Earl of Leven had for four or five years intimately known Mr. and Mme. Goldschmidt. He had never had the slightest reason to doubt that they lived together on the best possible terms. He did not know any one who took more care of his property than did the plaintiff.

Mr. Du Cane, solicitor, spoke in the highest terms of the attention paid by the plaintiff to the interests of his wife.

Mr. Sergeant Ballentine expressed his entire concurrence with the high terms in which both Mr. and Mme. Goldschmidt had been spoken of, and admitted most fully that an indefensible attack had been made upon them. He urged that the paragraph in question had been copied from an American paper at a very busy time, and had been inserted by the inadvertency of a gentleman in whom the proprietors of the paper had always placed the utmost confidence. On the matter being brought under their notice they took the earliest opportunity of inserting a full and ample apology. They came into Court without any intention to resist the verdict of the jury, and had instructed him to admit fully that the attack was a false and a foul one; but he must at the same time ask the jury to consider that their journal had, up to this time, been conducted in a most respectable manner, and that, when the fault was found out, they did their utmost to remedy it, and would have consented to any course being taken with that view.

Mr. Wyman having been examined.

Mr. Serjeant Ballantine urged that the proprietors of the journal had done all that was in their power as honorable men to do, and that no great damage was shown to have been caused by this paragraph.

The Solicitor-General replied, and asked the jury to give a verdict for sufficient though not excessive damages.

The Lord Chief Justice, in summing up, said that the libel was a most scandalous and abominable one, for which there was not a shadow of a foundation. In a civil action the jury must remember that the measure of malice was the amount of mischief caused by publication.

The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff; damages, £750.

In another action, Goldsmith vs. Spottswoode, the well-known printer, for the publication of a libel of a similar character in the American Register, the jury gave a verdict of £750; and in a third case, against a Mr. Stiff, a verdict of £500 was taken by consent.

The Fabulous Upas Tree.

When Marco Polo, Mungo Park and the great early navigators returned home from the strange countries which they had visited, they came back with most marvelous stories of things that they had seen. The inquiring and ignorant popular mind was glad enough to accept, without hesitation, the mythical narratives of these old worthies, and the more dreadful the stories, the more eagerly they were seized upon, and transferred to the literature of the times. Legends and traditions became so inextricably mixed up with facts that it was impossible to discriminate between the true and the false. Among these myths or centuries was one which held out longer than the others, and which, indeed, may still be said to have its believers. This is the famous death distributing Upas tree, of Java, under whose spreading branches the lively imagination often pictured the bones and skeletons of the countless victims who have fallen beneath its deadly influence. A writer who has visited a similar tree in Borneo gives some account of the Upas as he found it. Instead of seeing it surrounded by an arid plain, the approach that led to it was grassy and green with verdure, and bright with flowers. The trunk of the tree was girded round with creeping vines and many-colored parasites, that wound their way from the ground to the topmost branches. This writer states that the people of the island bury their dead near these trees, a fact which probably accounts for the wonderful stories of the early travelers. As a work of nature, the Upas tree is deserving of recognition. Its girth of trunk is immense, and its branches are lofty and spreading. But here its wonders cease, and as a phenomenon it must be consigned to that cabinet of exploded superstitions which already contains the kraaken, the maelstrom, and the mermaids with their golden harps.

A Gas Engine.

A New Orleans man, who sunk a well in the rear of his factory the other day, found, when he had reached the depth of forty-six feet, that there was a sudden and very powerful flow of gas from it. The Republican tells his subsequent proceedings thus: "He immediately closed the pipe, thinking to utilize this gas for illuminating purposes, but found the pressure too great, when the idea struck him to direct it into the boiler of one of his engines, and experiment with it in making steam. But no sooner had the connection been made than the engine began to run entirely by the pressure of the gas acting upon the piston, at a pressure of twelve pounds to the square inch; and so it continued all day yesterday, giving no signs of exhaustion."

A Paris Barricade.

The following is an extract from a letter from Paris to an English paper:

I suppose it has never been your lot, you happy Englishmen, to see a barricade erected before your very windows? I am less lucky, and can tell you exactly how the thing is done. At daybreak on the 18th inst., our quarter was overrun by the patriot of Batignolles, and from that moment it has been one continuous round of drums beating the "rappel," and trumpets sounding the alarm. This, of itself, was sufficiently irritating for the quiet inhabitants of a usually very quiet street, but you get used to most things, and even in the occasional firing close at hand, there was nothing very startling, and it only called forth an angry exclamation, and perhaps an imprecation of two or three against the passive "attitude" of Government. This state of things remained unaltered until Wednesday, the 22d, but after the lamentable affair of the Place Vendome the "patriots" of Batignolles got afraid some reprisals might be attempted, and that very evening a barricade was made at the top of the Rue de Turin, cutting it off from the Boulevard de Batignolles. A most blackguardly-looking seargent of the National Guard came up, escorted by six cut-throats, you would say, judging by their appearance. The seargent stopped and said to his followers, "Eventrezmoi o'te rue un peu leste, et faites-moi une barricade que ce soit ca." A lieutenant passing by stopped and asked, "Why make a barricade in that place?" The sergeant looked round with a scowl, and said, "We have orders," and then turned his back on the officer, who went away shrugging his shoulders. And our barricade was made "que c'est ça," in stones and earth five feet high and four feet deep, with two embrasures, before which two 7-pounders were pointed and sentinels were placed to guard this new toy. It is always surrounded by a knot of hideous-looking ruffians dressed as National Guards, such men as one only sees during revolutions, as if they remained below ground the remainder of the time. Every day a few stones are added to "the works," and a smaller barricade has been constructed in front of the parent barricade as an "outwork." The 7 pounders, to have been replaced by 24-pounders. Every now and then a detachment of patriots takes one of the cannons out for "an airing." They drag it along the Boulevard for half an hour or so, and then it is restored to its place before the embrasure. At night unsuspecting cabmen drive up our streets, when they are stopped by a sentinel who crosses bayonet, and in commanding tones calls, "On ne passe pas! Au large!!" and with praiseworthy prudence the cabman drives rapidly away. In the daytime every now and then some alarm causes the shops of the neighborhood to be hastily shut up and the dirty guardians of our liberties are in very bad odor with the shopkeepers, especially with those who have been subjected to "requisitions" and have been paid with red "bons." "Des bons qui sons tres mauvais," as a grocer remarked to me. How is all this to end? It seems difficult it should end without much bloodshed, but then help must come from without. The minority of the armed well-thinking men inside Paris is most alarming. At the time I write there is continual drumming going on under my windows, and cannon in the distance, but it may be a salute from a Prussian corps. Our barricade has been made, how will it be pulled down? That is the question. I am but a quarter of a century old, and without mentioning the coup d'etat and sundry emeutes, I have seen the latter years of a monarchy, an empire, two republics, and two revolutions.

[From the N. Y. Evening Post, April 13th.]

On the 15th of last month General Lawrence left this city for Chicago. The day before his departure he said to his family, and also to several friends, that he intended to visit Chicago on some private business, and that he should be absent a week, or at the utmost ten days. About a week subsequently his wife received a letter from him, dated at Chicago, saying that his absence would be prolonged a week longer; that he was going upon some business into the country, where he would be beyond the reach of postal communication, and that she must not be alarmed if she did not immediately hear from him. Since the receipt of this letter General Lawrence has been completly lost to the knowledge of his friends. A telegraphic dispatch sent to Chicago brought a response that he left his hotel at about the date of his letter, but that his subsequent movements were wholly unknown to those acquainted with him there. General Lawrence wore, when he left, a diamond pin valued at $400, and a gold watch valued at $200. It is also said that he carried considerable money with him. The conviction is gaining ground among his friends that he has been murdered to obtain his valuables. It is also said that he was occasionally subject to a disease of the gastric juices, which produced intense pain, and has rendered him at times temporarily insane, even for a week at a time. It is possible that he may have died in one of these paroxysms in some obscure country place, where his name and home were unknown. It is understood that his family are employing detectives to unravel the mystery which envelopes his disappearance.

PATRICK HENRY, when he expressed the soul-stirring sentiment, "Give me liberty or give me death," simply gave utterance to an orator's fleeting emotion; but when he said "Give me death when I can obtain no longer Pier, Dannals & Co.'s cream ale," he meant what he said, and was responsible for the words.

THE German Relief Fund received at the German Consulate General in New York, amounted to $337,285.29.

CONSUMPTION.
Its Cure and its Preventive.
BY J. H. SCHENCK, M.D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Sea-weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionary disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbification of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophilium Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but, unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucuous deposits in the bowels and the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Sea-weed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature can not be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country, in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of the blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

"As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since.

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them. First create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone for ever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-weed Tonic $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. apl8:p3-TTHS

Of Pennsylvania,

D. 1871, to nominate candidates for Auditor General and Surveyor General, and to take action upon the question of Constitutional Reform, and for the transaction of such other business as may be brought before it.

CULLEN, who was going to rot in prison before he would sit on a jury with a negro, has altered his first intentions, and concluded not to rot. We are rather sorry for this, believing that no man ought to disappoint public expectations in that wilful manner. What operated so powerfully on Cullen is not as yet known, but he has paid his fine of two hundred dollars and been discharged. He did not get far enough to be a martyr nor deserve an epitaph.

MR. WINANS, Republican from Chatauqua county, has, it is asserted, set at rest the anxious hearts of the Democrats in the New York Legislature. He has concluded to fill the vacancy in the Democratic ranks made by the resignation of Irving, and announced in the House that hereafter he would vote with the Democracy. If this be true (which we doubt), the public will be anxious to know how much Mr. Winans paid the Democrats to allow him to vote with them. It must have cost him "right smart."

IN the immense amount of outcry raised by the South about being governed by carpet baggers, scoundrels and dishonest men, one fact seems to have been over looked. While there may be instances where the persons holding offices in Southern States are not those with whom gentlemen would desire to meet, in the daily discharge of public duties, yet wherever such a case does occur, it arises altogether from the fact, that the Southern sentiment in that district prevents able and intelligent loyal men from running the risk of accepting public positions. In no other possible way could Southern States be governed by officers not pleasant to meet in the transaction of business. Just as soon as the South regards loyalty as honorable, that moment these complaints will have no foundation, even should they be true in a few instances during the present laudation of treason in the South.

ALTHOUGH the Southern Claims Commission has been but a few day in existence as an organized body ready for work, yet not less than one hundred and twenty-five claims have been presented. It is to be regretted that the law creating the Commission is not more definite. It is so worded as to be almost a temptation for the presentation of fraudulent claims. But the great difficulty we apprehend, is in the provision requiring the claimants to be loyal, or to have been loyal. In the present condition of the South, truly loyal men have their lives sufficiently endangered, to prevent them taking on themselves the character of witnesses to prove a claimants disloyalty. For this reason, we are satisfied that the Commission will frequently work in the dark, and that hundreds of dollars will ultimately be paid away to southern men, who even if their claims are just, are not now, nor have they ever been since 1860, loyal to this government.

THE terms of the agreement of the Joint High Commission, as recently published, have been contradicted, and it is asserted that no agreement has as yet been effected. While the country, would no doubt be vastly pleased over the fact of a definite settlement of the questions before the Commission, yet we sincerely hope that no such basis as that published, will be declared the ground of settlement. The Alabama Claims are plain and simple. They are not bound up in any metaphysical technicalities, and we object most earnestly to the attempt to involve them in the inextricable confusion that would arise if the agreement published had been correct. These claims too, have been before the two governments for a very long time, and there certainly can be no actual necessity that two more years should be given before a final decision. But even that time is not the limit, because should the proposed Commission fail to agree on any specified sum in any claim, then another Commission is to take the claim in hand, and to enter into an entirely new hearing. In this way years would pass, entailing great expense, when in fact there is really nothing connected with the claims, that should not have an immediate and final settlement.

TWELVE gentleman, styling themselves the "Liberal Republican Committee of St. Louis" have concluded to follow the path way marked out by another handful of other gentlemen in Cincinnati, a few weeks since. As is usual in all such cases these twelve gentlemen, cling to the term Republican, and evidently believe that, without that name they have not the least chance of success. In their great anxiety however, to succeed, they have too many irons in the fire. They invite Democrats with a free trade plank; they invite Southern votes, by condemning the the Ku-Klux bill as a second plank; they show their love for the Cincinnati movement by a civil service plank thrown out for Secretary Cox and his friends; and they invite the public generally by a proposed reduction of taxation. There is one fact, however, suspicious about these earnest advocates for liberal platforms. Unless they are fraudently using the term Republican, we fail to see why they do not wait to see what will be the platform of the National Republican Committee in 1872. It might save them much trouble, unless they are only trying to conceal their free trade platform under a show of Republicanism. This, we think, is the fact, and they had better have the courage to come out and face the issue squarely. On that ground, Republicans will meet them in National Convention without the slightest hesitation.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

As might readily be expected, the deadlock in our State Legislature has settled down into a debate of who is to blame. The Democratic majority charges the Republicans, who in turn assail the Democrats. One thing, however, is most certainly true, and that is, the public will not be deceived by legislative clamor. The masses of our people are reading, thinking men, and will judge for themselves, and on that judgment act. We are inclined to think, unless there are some further facts adduced to prove the contrary, that the public will believe there is fault on both sides so far as an Ap[illegible]ent of the State alone is re[illegible] There may have been efforts [illegible] on a bill for this purpose, but th[illegible]ts have never been made public, and all the inference that can be drawn is, that both the majority in the House and the majority in the Senate, have become obstinately stubborn in fighting for the passage of their respective bills, without amendment and without any effort to compromise. The people desire an apportionment of the State, and we do not think any political majority should exact from either house the passage of a purely political apportionment bill. There should be, and must be, some concessions made, otherwise the State will not be apportioned at all under the present census. Both houses are therefore seemingly censurable, and unless some facts are disclosed that will go to show an effort made to compromise matters, the action of both political majorities, will be, and should be, condemned.

It is, however, proper to say that there is another feature in the case, where there can be no question of who is to blame. There can be no palliation, no excuse given, for the fact that at least one thousand bills are lying in the Senate awaiting action, and have been doing so for some time. These bills would have been acted on, had not the Democratic majority in the Senate refused to allow the calendars to be taken up, as they should have been. For this there has been no other reason given, than that no business would be done by the Democratic Senate until the Republican House had acted favorably on the Senate apportionment bill. We hold that this is no reason at all. On the contrary, it bear on its face strong evidence in favor of the conclusion, that the Democratic majority in the Senate has no intention to make any compromise whatever, but that unless the Senate apportionment bill can be passed just as it exists at present, no apportionment bill shall be passed at all. We do not assert that this is the fact, but we do say that the action of the Senate will warrant any one drawing such a conclusion. Still, just so long as it does not appear that the Republicans of the House have offered any compromise, the majority of the public will believe that both Houses are open to severe censure.

But the Apportionment bill is not alone the cause of this dead-lock. It is more than probable that if it were not for the attempt to repeal the Registry law by the Democrats in the Legislature, an Apportionment bill would have been passed long ago. Democracy must be aware that the bill it offers for this purpose is unjust and unfair, and while the House bill may not be just and fair in all respects, yet a Republican majority in both Houses, must follow an equitable apportionment. But the Registry law is a far different matter; and we have not the most remote idea, that should a compromise in the Apportionment bill be effected at any time, that it would break the dead-lock. Having gained some concessions, more than the party really deserved, Democracy we fully believe would then turn its attention to the Registry law, and endeavor to drive the House into measures, just as it has been doing for the past month.

REWARDING CRIMINAL LABOR.

A correspondent, in whose largeness of heart and generous disposition we have long taken much stock, sends us a communication severely reflecting on the wisdom and justice of the movement in the Ohio Legislature, looking towards the remuneration of criminal laborers in the Penitentiary of that State. We imagine that he will not be so severe and caustic in the expression of his opinions regarding those heading the movement if he calmly weighs the measure in the scales of mercy and charity. By the commission of a crime it is true the criminal forfeits a portion of his life and liberty to the Commonwealth against whose society he may have grievously offended, and legally the profits derived from his enforced labor do not belong to him. Once in the prison cell for a violation of law, the felon is in fact for and during the period of his sentence, the property of the State, and of the tax-payers who rear and sustain places for the punishment and reformation of felons. But should there be no mercy, no feeling of kindness and charity follow the condemned into the loneliness of his cell? Should the world remain indifferent to the mental and moral condition of the colony of unfortunate outcasts, who being only human, have violated the laws and outraged society? Should the sounding of the sentence ostracise them from the world of humanity and restrain the Christianizing, helping hand of charity from reaching out to redeem them? We think not. The day is rapidly passing away for the sword of Justice to be only an avenging one; Mercy is finding resting place in our prisons. It is a positive duty devolving upon the Christian people of our own advanced age to do whatever lies in their power and province to do, to lift out from their moral degradation and sinfulness the wicked and unfortunate who people our criminal institutions, for God is too good and merciful to permit any of his creatures to be swept before the wrath of the righteous down into deeper degradation because of a sin against Himself.

Now, what does this new law propose? It is designed in its provisions to make division, pro rata, among the wives and families of the prisoners who have such, of all the net earnings resulting from their labors after the entire expenses of running the Penitentiary are deducted. The average cost of keeping each prisoner last year was $144 52. By the estimate made a convict earns from $100 to $125 per year above his share of the expenses of the prison. This sum, it is proposed by the bill, to pay quarterly to his family, to prevent actual suffering. What is wrong in this? Where is the inducement held out for criminals to commit crimes? He would be a brainless and uncalculating rogue who would offend the laws in order to secure a felon's cell, labor hard and suffer all sorts of deprivations just to secure the miserable bonus of a few dollars a quarter to be paid to his wife and family! The people who find boarding places in penitentiaries are generally much too shrewd to commit any serious felony under such a weak pecuniary temptation, or as our correspondent insists "bonus on crime." The spirit of the bill is commendable, just and charitable. In the first place it encourages the prisoner to cheerfully labor. Knowing that those whose affections yet cling to him, despite the viciousness and waywardness of his course, will be at least some little benefited by his involuntary servitude, he feels that he is not altogether isolated from loved and dependent ones and is encouraged in forming good resolutions. Next, how many good, true and virtuous wives with helpless children are left pitiable objects of charity in the broad world with none to care for them when the erring husband and father is torn from their side and for a long term of years consigned to the awful seclusion of a prison? How many of these children are saved from a life of wickedness when driven forth into the world to provide for themselves against want and starvation? What great temptations surmount the wives of felons who are left without any honorable means of obtaining food, raiment and shelter for themselves and children? How many aged mothers whose warmest, truest love of all, have followed sons through all courses of their crimes, have been left broken hearted and feeble, as indigent outcasts to waste away their blighted lives in the paupers' ward of the Alms House? And yet all this train of evil following the crimes of individual criminals, to innocent parties, might if not entirely obviated, be greatly softened by some such liberal policy as that now pending in the Ohio Legislature, for there can be no doubt that want and poverty are often the upper and nether mill-stones which grind from the human heart virtue, innocence and honesty.

CENSUS FIGURES.

The Cities of Over 20,000 Population.

[From the Washington Patriot.]

The following table, compiled from the last census, shows that there are in the United States sixty-seven cities with a population of over 20,000 inhabitants. Washington, which in 1860 stood number fourteen on the list, now stands number twelve—Louisville, Albany and Newark having been outnumbered, while San Francisco has outstripped the four, and takes its position tenth on the list. St. Louis and Chicago have passed Baltimore, Boston, New Orleans and Cincinnati, and stand fourth and fifth on the list; while Baltimore, which stood fourth in 1760, now stands sixth. In the matter of percentage of gain, Kansas City, Missouri, is far in the lead, while New Bedford, in the North, and Savannah, in the South, are the only cities which show an actual decrease.

In 1860 the aggregate population of the ten leading cities was 2,708,987. In 1870 the same cities show a population of 3,649,676—a gain of 940,679, or an average of 37.7 per cent.; and a corresponding increase, which seems more than probable, for the next decade, would give in those cities a population of nearly 5,000,000.

The table will be found very interesting to those who desire to analyze it, and convenient to all for reference:

Prime Minister of England—Some of His Peculiarities.

From an article on Mr. Gladstone, in the Pall Mall Gazette, we make the following interesting extract:

But whether or not Mr. Gladstone interests the country as perfectly as he might do, he interests Parliament very acutely, if not so genially as some of his predecessors. It is a very long time since we had a Minister who kept the House of Commons in such a chronic state of tension. His energy is inexhaustible, his susceptibilities are excessive, and his promptitude is awful. Nobody can escape him. Neither the lack of importance in the subject, nor want of standing in the man, is any protection. If a back member asked publicly what time it was by the House clock, he could not be sure beforehand that the answer would not come from the Prime Minister himself. Mr. Gladstone, too, would be prepared to argue the matter at length with him of it seemed questionable whether the government time was correct to a second. No member could introduce into a speech a remark about the climate with any certainty that it would not cross one of Mr. Gladstone's cherished convictions. Mr. Gladstone, in fact, will contend about anything with anybody. This has its advantages and disadvantages. It checks some silly members, but it encourages some other absurd ones by the chances it gives to notoriety. However, it keeps the House on the look-out; members have to take care of themselves when at any moment they may be plunged into debate with the Premier. So far as to the House in general; but to his opponents Mr. Gladstone must be irritatingly interesting. He concedes to them no pretended little successes. He will fight with them about a straw, and worry it out to the end. He has no notion of a skirmish; he is all for pitched battles. Certainly this generation has seen nothing like the debating ability he has latterly shown; still, if Mr. Gladstone has a fault as a parliamentary leader, we should say it is his insisting a little too much upon being the whole army as well. But as well as interesting Parliament excessively, Mr. Gladstone must most keenly excite the old governing class—the ancient territorial men—both in and out of Parliament; he has so largely ignored them. As has introduced a new spirit into our government, and has set wholly new precedents, and most people are only half aware of it. Their appreciation is not fine enough to perceive his originality. We have before had Ministers with more or less of a taste for middle-class measures, but Mr. Gladstone has a taste for middle-class men. Where others introduced a new measure he introduced a new Minister; and, in the long-run, when they have sufficiently accumulated, the new Ministers will make as interesting a retrospect as a new measure. If Mr. Gladstone is spared to stand a veteran amidst the new school of administrators he is founding a very special kind of authority, and a novel kink of interest, will be his. But, even now, Mr. Gladstone would at any moment greatly increase in interest if his majority should dwindle. No Minister with such a majority as he at present has can expect much general sympathy. It would be a sheer waste of sentiment. Two or three falls from power may yet make Mr. Gladstone a really interesting Minister.

A Democrat on Democracy.

Donn Piatt, in a letter to the Cincinnati Commercial, writes: I hear from all sides precisely what a distinguished gentleman of New York told me at Lake George last summer, and that is the malign influence of the city of New York has been felt on Democratic success outside the city limits. The late State election in New Jersey went against the Democracy because the Democracy was held responsible for the corruptions of New York. The same thing has now happened in Connecticut, and the Democrats throughout the country begin to realize that Tweed, Sweeney and Company are more than a balance for the Southern carpet-baggers of the Republican party. I believe, myself, that it would be beneficial for the country at large to have the Democratic party succeed in the next Presidential election, especially if Grant is renominated, but I must say that I shrink from the idea of transferring New York to Washington. There is yet a lower depth, as I have said before, than Republican corruption has reached, and that is the bottomless pit which lies under us in the shape of New York political rascality. There is not only a foul odor about these New York people, but there is an insolence that adds insult to the injury. A New York Democrat, whether he be an American rough or an Irish stupidity, is as insolent as the devil, and he makes no bones of laughing at his own wickedness, or breaking your head if you venture to differ with him.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

SPRAINS.

All injuries or affections of the joints in children should be particularly attended to. Any unaccountable swelling about a joint although it may not be attended with pain, a halt or lameness in walking, and pain or uneasiness in any of the limbs, ought to excite suspicion of serious disease, and be immediately investigated. The most important of all our remedies here is rest to the limb; and the principal danger to be averted is inflammation of the joint. If a joint has been injured, and is much swollen and painful, leeches, may be applied to it in the first instance; after this the employment of fomentations and absolute rest are to be most relied; and upon the subsidence of the more acute symptons, moderate exercise of the limb, frictions either with the dry hand or simple liniment, such as campherated oil, and wearing a flannel bandage round the joint, are the chief measures to be adopted.—Home and Health.

FAINTING AND CONVULSION FITS.

These two very different affections are frequently confounded with one another, although, in general, they may be easily distinguished. In fainting, the face and lips become pale, the skin is generally covered with a clammy prespiration, and the patient falls to the ground motionless; in a few seconds recovery takes place with deep and heavy sighs, and occasionally vomiting then occurs. In convulsions, again, the attack comes on suddenly, and in most cases with a loud cry; the patient falls, and is affected with strong muscular writhings or spasms, the limbs being kept in violent motion, or firmly fixed in one position, while the face is much distorted, and froth issues from the mouth. These symptoms cease in from five to ten minutes, leaving the patient drowsy and motionless.

In both these affections the treatment must be much the same. Cold water dashed on the head and face—the removal of all pressure on the neck, such as neckcloths, etc., and, in convulsions, the insertion of something between the teeth, such as the corner of a towel folded once or twice, to prevent the biting of the lips and tongue, which is here apt to occur,—constitute all that is essentially necessary to be done during the fit.

The most important treatment is that which has for its object the removal of the constitutional condition which leads to these fits, and this, of course, is not to be attempted by non-professional individuals.—Hearth and Home.

TO MAKE AN OMELETTE.

It seems a pity that all housekeepers should not understand the art of making an omelette. Eggs are generally to be obtained, and it is a dish prepared with very little trouble, and it is consequently very convenient when unexpected company makes an addition to the table desirable. There is no need of measuring or weighing or fussing to make a simple omelette.

Use four, five or six eggs, not more. If a greater quanity is needed, it is better to make two. Break the eggs in a bowl, adding salt—two or three pinches—then beat with a large spoon. It is not necessary to beat them light, as for cake. Put a lump of butter about the size of a large hickory nut, into a small frying-pan, and melt it over a moderate fire: then quickly pour in the beaten egg, tipping the pan. There is quite a little secret in this; if the egg covers the bottom of the pan, you will have a kind of egg pancake, instead of a light, puffy omelette. Besides, it is apt to become too brown in spots. Do not touch the top, but have ready in hand a broad-bladed knife with which to lift it, for if the fire is at all hot it will begin to cook immediately. Lift continually with the knife, allowing the raw egg to run under. When it ceases to run, which will be in two or three minutes, the omelette is done, and should be quickly doubled together, like a turn-over, and put on a platter.

DOOR-YARD ORNAMENTATION.

We have made great progress the past few years in our style of gardening. Formerly every little door-yard, however small, was cut up into a labyrinth of narrow walks, carefully edged with dwarf box. This sort of needless and unsightly patchwork is fast passing away, and a far better taste is being shown in the smooth, soft carpets of green grass, with the needful flower beds cut out wherever required. Flowers are like diamonds; their settings should be of the inconspicuous order, and never the most prominent feature of the two—as often seen among the "shoddyites" in both fashionable society and horticulture. Our florists and nurserymen still have a considerable demand for "box" for edgings; and it is a pity, altnough 'tis true, that we have so much bad taste shown in our suburban gardens.

Sometimes the grounds are cut up into walks resembling an old-fashioned patch bed-quilt of many colers, and the proprietor, not wishing to be outdone in the way of variety, crowds a thousand species and varieties of plants into a space where a hundred would be a far better number, and show to better advantage. This trying to see how many varieties can be grown, has been a curse to pomology, and is rapidly ruining floriculture. A dozen plants, well grown, show better taste and judgment than a hundred, as far too generally seen.

We hope our readers will remember this when making their selection of seeds and plants this spring. Choose only a few of the very best, and that of species that will give a succession of bloom throught the season, and bestow upon these all the care that would have been given to many, and see if greater satisfaction and better results will not be derived therefrom.

We know of a man who cultivated three hundred varieties of Gladioli last summer; but one tenth of the number properly selected would have furnished all the beauty and other merits found in the entire lot. To strive for the very best is commendable; but to seek to obtain everything is like trying to gain an education by studying everything and knowing nothing thoroughly.—Rural New Yorker.

The Villa Gardener, London, England, gives the following rules for budding roses:

But two things are necessary to bud roses successfully. The stocks must be in the right state, and so must the bed. Unless the bark of the rose will separate freely from its wooden foundation, budding cannot be successfully performed. The answer, then, to the question is, in general terms, at any time when the bark of the stock and of the cion or bud will rise; that is, separate freely from their respective wood. For it is essential that the bark of the stem should open freely to receive the bud, and that the bud, with its accompanying bark, should be deposited in its new home with the least possible bruises or injury. Some may take exception to this general principle, as far as the bud is concerned. As long as the stock is right in regard to the free circulation of its bark from its wood, it is in a condition for budding.

If the bud and its bark will not leave the wood freely, some simply cut it off with a thin slice of wood, and insert it without the conditions recommended. Now there is no doubt that such buds will often grow; but the plan is not to be recommended, especially as the bud and bark budding is so much more simple, expeditious, and successful. Again, the question when to bud may be answered pretty correctly by specifying the time from the middle of June to the middle of August, inclusive, as the best budding season, though the operation may be performed at any time when stocks and buds are already in the state described.

PLANTING RASPBERRIES.

The raspberry, to be a success, wants a deep loose soil, but at the first planting it should have but about two inches of earth over the top root of the plant. Cut away all the stems of last year's growth down to four inches above the newly starting bud. In planting, some set two or three plants in a hill at three feet apart each way; but our practice has been successful with plants at two feet apart along the rows and the rows three feet wide.

BEDDING-OUT PLANTS.

We caution against too early planting out of bedding-out plants. Verbenas, geraniums, tender roses, etc., that have been reared in the house by fire heat, will not be advanced by planting out ere the first to the tenth of May. Many a plant that has grown all the season and is established will bear the autumn cold in November without injury, but the same class or variety of plant taken now from the green-house or living-room windows and planted out in the ground feels every change, and its health is affected as much as the human frame, were it to have the warm clothing of winter removed and the linen of summer substituted.

A HOME-MADE DISINFECTANT.

Dissolve a bushel of salt in a barrel of water, and with the salt water slack a barrel of lime, which should be wet enough to form a kind of paste. For the purposes of a disinfectant, this home-made chloride of lime is nearly as good as that purchased at the shops and drug-stores. Use it freely about silks, cellars, gutters and out-houses, and in this way prevent sickness, suffering and expense.

DIED FROM STRANGULATION.

Nothing can be more fearful to contemplate than such a death as is brought about by strangulated hernia or rupture. Who ever has seen the victim of it, writhing in agony, will bear us out in our opinion. But there is no need of any one exposing himself to such a dreadful alternative, for by the timely application of a suitable truss the rupture can be retained in its proper place and in many cases entirely cured and in all of them relieved. Remember we have said by a suitable truss—one-half the bandages sold under that name are not worth the leather which is wasted in covering them, and but illy adapted for the use intended. Another great evil is in the application of trusses. They should not be put on like the hoops of a barrel would be by a man unskilled in cooperage, but they should be put on by a person having a knowledge, not only of the appliances themselves, but also acquainted with the human organism, and especially the anatomy of hernia. What is the comparative expense of a few dollars to that security which one feels in the comfort of a well fitting truss, and besides trusses of as low a price can be had at the establishment of those who are accustomed to fitting them every day as elsewhere.

Dr. KEYSER, of 167 Liberty street, has every needful appliance and at every price.

THE FROST KING.

We have now obtained one of the finest Soda apparatuses this side of New York City, from which we can dispense the purest Soda Water in the city, as all of our Syrups ARE MADE FROM FRUIT, and we use only the purest Fruit Juices.

We also have just received a fresh supply of Kissengen, Vichy, Blue Lick, Saratoga, High Rock, and Congress Waters, that we can sell, wholesale or retail, at the lowest prices. Remember the place.

WHAT IS IT?

Many, many people suffer from they know not what. They are not sick—they are not well. There is no name for it. It is simply weakness—a breaking down of the vital forces. Whatever its causes, (and they are innumerable), its symptoms are in the main the same. Among the most prominent are extreme lassitude, loss of appetite, loss of flesh, and great mental depression. Indigestion and a stomach cough are also frequently concomitants of this distressing state of body and of mind. The common remark in relation to persons in such condition is, that they are consumptive. Now, what these unfortunates really want is vigor vital strength; and, as certainly as dawn succeeds darkness, they can recuperate their systems and regain perfect health by resorting to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters. It is as clear that a life-reviving tonic is required in such cases, as that the dying flame of an empty lamp requires to be revived with a new supply of oil. Perfectly pure and innocuous, containing nothing but the most genial vegetable extracts, and combining the three grand elements of a stomachic, an alterative, and a genial invigorant, Hostetter's Bitters are suitable to all constitutions, and are as applicable to the diseases and disabilities of the feebler sex as to those of men.

NEW YORK, April 17, 1871.

Gold opened at 110⅜ and sold down to 110¼; late in the day it advanced to 111 and closed firm at 110⅞. Loans were made at 1@2 and 3 per cent. Clearings $24,000,000. Governments opened firm; closing quotations of Saturday at close of market were strong and higher. Stocks buoyant and higher; the features have been Pittsburgh, New York Central, Lake Shore, and Ohio. Pittsburgh sold up to 128, on rumors of script dividend of fifty per cent. and lease to Pennsylvania Central. Dealings are also prominent in St. Paul and Union Pacific. Among the miscellaneous stocks, Pacific Mail was the feature, advancing to 45⅜ with large dealings. New York Central and Hudson stock, and certificates are strong in anticipation of an early adjournment of the Albany legislature. Adams Express strong, selling up to 78. Market buoyant.

There was a little more inquiry for money. At the close the ruling rate was 6 per cent. State securities dull on everything excepting Tennessee and New South Carolina which was very active, the former advancing ⅛ to ⅜c.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales of prime, in crocks and kegs, at 70@75 per gallon.

ASHES—Common Soda, 3⅞@4; refined do, 4⅛; Pots 7⅛@7⅛; Pearls, 9@9⅛.

APPLES—We can report sales of choice Russetts at $6 00@6,50 per bbl; fair to medium quoted at $4@5.

BUTTER—The market presents nothing to record. There is a continued steady demand for the best grades for home consumption, but common and inferior is dull and the stock of this character is increasing. We are reported sales of good to prime at 30@33 and choice at 35.

BROOM CORN—Sales of red at 5 cts and good green at 6.

BEANS—Continue dull but the receipts have fallen off considerably within the past few weeks and prices remain unchanged, $1,50@2,00 per bushel.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 28@30 cts.

CHEESE—Prime York State Goshen, 18@18½. No Ohio cheese in market as yet.

CARBON OIL—Is quiet and unchanged; standard brands, may be fairly quoted at 21½ in job lots—usual advance for small lots.

CORNMEAL—Demand very light and prices unchanged; small sales at 90 cts per bushel.

CANDLES—Quoted at 12 cts for mould, and 19 for star.

CANNED GOODS—Corn is lower; we now quote Winslow's at $2,75@3,00 per dozen; Peaches, (3 lb cans) $5,75 per dozen; do (2 lb cans) $2,50. Tomatoes, $2,60@2,75 per dozen. Blackberries, $3.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2,50@2,75 per bbl; Johnstown, $2,25; Rosendale, $4,00@4,50; Calcined Plaster, $4,50; Land Plaster, $3,50@3,75.

CRANBERRIES—Season nearly over; quoted at $12@15 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—Apples very dull and we now reduce our quotations to 5@7 cts, for common to choice. Peaches slow but unchanged; quarters, 10@10½; mixed, 11@11½; halves, 13@14.

EGGS—There is no change to note in prices but the general impression among dealers is that there will be an advance during this week, as the arrivals have fallen off considerably. We continue to give 14 cts as the ruling price for fresh packed in good condition; some of our commission men have been instructed by shippers not to sell at present prices.

FEATHERS—Prime geese feathers are scarce and in demand, with sales to the trade at 73@74—usual advance for small lots.

FLOUR—The market has undergone no change for some time, demand only moderate, and, aside from purchases for home consumption, there is no movement. We continue to quote at $6,75@7,00 for good spring extras; $7,25 for choice Minnesota baker's flour; $6,75@7,00 for red winter wheat; and $7,25@7,50 for white. Rye Flour, small lots, in store, $6,00@6,25.

GRAIN—The market for Wheat, in consequence of continued light receipts, is firmer and prices are fully maintained, $1,40@1,45 for red and $1,50@1,55 for white. The offerings, generally are of the common and medium grades, and millers report that it is difficult to get hold of a round lot of strictly No. 1, and nothing but strictly prime will command the outside quotations. Oats—demand, although not urgent, is about equal to the supply the market rules steady and prices remain unchanged, 55@56 buying, and 57@58 selling—small lots, in store, 60@62. Corn continues quiet but with continued light receipts and a diminished supply, prices are fully maintained; 68 for mixed ear: 70 for mixed shelled, and 72@73 for prime yellow—75@78 for small lots in store. Rye is in steady demand and sells on arrival at $1,05@1,06. Barley is quiet and unchanged—but little offering and not much inquiry for it; we continue to quote at 75@80 for spring, and 85@90 for fall.

GROCERIES—Coffees are still reported weak, and the lower grades, (roasting grades) are quoted down; stocks are accummulating at the sea board and importers are becoming more anxious to realize. Refined Sugars are up fully a ⅛ of a cent within the past ten days but the advance is a feeble one, and is not likely to be maintained any length of time. Raw Sugars present nothing new or important; stocks are fully up to the usual average in the east and the receipts continue liberal, and large holders are anxious to realize, though not disposed to make concessions. Fine Sugar Syrups are up fully 5 cents per gallon, within the past two weeks, and refiners continue very bullish; this firmness is attributed mainly to low stocks. Molasses Syrups dull in sympathy with the commoner grades of molasses. Rice is quiet and devoid of a single new characteristic worthy of special notice, and the same is true of foreign fruits:

SYRUPS AND DRIPS—White Honey, 65; Havemyer & Elders, 72; Silver Drips, 60; Loverings, 63; other grades, 45@55.

TEAS—Fancy Young Hyson, $1 40; Good, $1 10; Fair, $1. Lower grades down to 70cts. G. P. CATTLE.

In the addition to the 38 cars of western cattle, above reported, there were 3 loads brought over from East Liberty Yards, and fully 4 loads from adjacent country, making in all 45 loads or fully 800 head. With scarcely an average local demand and little or no inquiry for shipment trade was sluggish, it was so reported by drovers, though after all, there were but few left over unsold. In regard to prices, there was but little change as compared with last week; prime butchers stock sold at 7⅛@7⅜, some few bringing 7⅞ and even 8 cts.

Stock cattle were unusually dull to-day, and notwithstanding the supply was small, it was nevertheless fully up if not in excess of the demand. It would seem that farmers and stock growers have become impressed with the conviction that this particular grade of cattle have been ruling too high, and it is a fact that they have been selling more readily and at relatively higher prices than fat cattle. There is no inducement in paying 5@6 cts for stockers, when prime fat cattle are dragging at 6⅞@7⅜.

J. W. Unger sold 2 fresh cows at $55@60; 3 bulls at 4⅛@5⅛, 2 steers at 6⅛.

Sheitemantle & Flinner 8 head steers and heifers from Butler Co. stock at 6@6⅜.

F. Kraus, reports 10 head of Washington Co. cows and steers, at 5@6⅛.

Hazlewood & Blackstock report 20 head from Washington Co., and 35 from Illinois at 5@7⅛ cts.

M. Kraus reports 18 head of Washington Co. stock, at 6⅛@6⅜; 34 head at about same range.

Sol. Kauffman had 2 left over from last week; sold 1 at 4⅛; other left over for next week.

J. McMurtry had 19 head of stock cattle, from Washington Co.—bid 5 cts, held at 5⅛.

Beyer & Keefer 48 head of Chicago stock, fair to prime, at 6@8 cts.

Traurman & Lobman 50 head butchers stock at 6,50@7,60; 23 stockers averaging 850@900 lbs, at 5⅛@6 cts.

S. Marks & Bro. 79 head of mixed Western stock at 3⅜@7⅛.

Greenwald & Kahn 64 head of butchers stock from Chicago and 19 same kind from Ohio, at 6@7⅛.

L. & J. Shamberg report 6 loads; sold butchers cattle at 6@6⅜; stockers held at 5⅜.

Carr & McAllister report 40 head of fair to prime butchers stock, at 6⅛@7⅛.

Jacob Needy reports one car load of Chicago stock, at 6⅛@7⅛.

SHEEP.

The supply of Sheep was again small, about 500, and, as might be expected, they were sold for all they were worth; the offerings were mainly of the common and medium grades, and the supply of prime fat Sheep, such as are bought by the best butchers, was not equal to the demand. There were two or three small lots of spring lambs on sale, and they were sold at an average of $3 per head. It is not likely that the offerings will be large for a week or two to come, or until after shearing time is over.

Neely & McMillan sold 95 head of good to prime Allegheny Co. wooled sheep at 6@6⅛ cts per lb.

John Walters, 67 head of mixed (wooled and clipped) from Butler Co at $4 per head to 6 cts per lb.

John Drum sold 126 head of good to prime clipped sheep at an average of 5⅛; sold 75 head scalawags, on commission, at an average of about $2,75 per head.

A. Stakely sold 15 spring lambs, averaging about 55 lbs, at $3 per head; 7 head good wooled sheep at 6 cts.

Sheitemantle & Flinner report 74 head Butler Co wooled sheep at $5,00@6,50 per head; 24 lambs at an average of $3 per head.

Isaac Williams had a lot of 50 head, which were unsold at 11 o'clock.

HOGS.

The retail demand for hogs continues light notwithstanding prices are lower now than they have been since last fall, if not for several years. We now quote in a retail way at 6⅛@7 cts gross.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

There is no improvement to note in the Petroleum trade; the market continues dull and unsatisfactory, and while hopes are still entertained that there will soon be a reaction for the better, the prospects at this writing are not very encouraging. Refined continues weak and drooping; it was thought last week that the bottom had certainly been touched, but the advices from the east to-day, report a still further decline, and little or nothing doing. From the creek, we have nothing particularly new or important; creek operators generally are reported as being anxious to realize; and no doubt slight concessions would be made, in order to effect sales, but there are few if any buyers unless at very considerable concessions, and this the creek men are not prepared to make as yet—it is probable, however, that they will be sooner or later—it is only a question of time. There is one thing certain, it is not possible for the market to remain in its present unsettled and unsatisfactory condition much longer, it will certainly make a move of some kind before long, and the sooner the better.

CRUDE.

Market dull—not a single sale reported. Seller 30 days, offered at 10⅛; seller 1st six months, 10⅛; seller all year, 10⅛. On lower creek, quoted at $3,85@3,90.

REFINED.

As already intimated, is weak and lower, as compared with Saturday. April quoted down to 22⅞, the lowest point touched this year; May, 23⅛.

RECEIPTS OF CRUDE OIL.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues about stationary with three feet ten inches in the channel. Weather cloudy and cool, with strong indications of rain.

The Brill, from Nashville, and R. W. Skillinger, from Portsmouth, constitute the arrivals. The Wauanita from St. Louis is due.

The Julia No. 2 was hauled up to main landing yesterday, and will depart for Zanesville to-day, as usual, leaving at 4 P. M.

The Arlington, from Cincinnati, is due today, and will return as usual to-morrow leaving promptly at 12 o'clock.

The St. Charles is also en route, but it is very doubtful whether she will be able to reach this port until there is a rise. She is too long and unwieldy to make much progress on three feet ten inches of water.

As will be seen by card, the Brill, Capt. M. Cox, is announced for Nashville forthwith.

The Skillinger had an excellent up trip, all she could bring on the water.

The Rover barges are still receiving for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi.

One of the Mary Davage's barges, loaded with iron ore, is aground at Beaver Shoals.

The Argosy, for Wheeling, was the only departure yesterday.

The Wild Duck, Capt. Anawalt, is announced for St. Louis. She will receipt freights through to all points west and south.

The R. W. Skillinger, Capt. Flesher, will depart for Portsmouth to-day leaving promptly at 10 A. M. She will receipt freight and passengers through to Cincinnati. Being of light draft the Skillinger will go through without detention.

—The steamer Great Republic, we are sorry to announce, is in the hands of law, or, in other words, tied up for debt. What the result of this seizure will be it is almost impossible to say, and we sincerely sympathize with the owners as the Great Republic has been anything but a paying investment ever since she was built, and in another sense she was, for she has made as large if not a larger exhibit of receipts than any steamboat of our Western waters, but the enormous expenses conneeted with running her, including wharfage tax, wharfboat charges, runners, agents, newspapers, at every place she put her nose in, was enough to swamp a Vanderbilt. We think that a boat of her power and carrying capacity, if run without any debts hanging on her the interest of which swallows up the profits, could be run and make money. We are satisfied of one fact, that Captain Donaldson, her late commander, can leave her with the satisfaction of knowing he has done his whole duty by her, and to those interested in her.—St. Louis Dispatch.

—The St. Louis Republican, of Saturday, says: The river at this port rose twenty-one inches during the past twenty-four hours. Above the Mississippi continues to rise from St. Paul down. The Missouri is also rising from Sioux City down. The mountain snows have not yet affected that river. If the weather, however, continues warm, it will no doubt very soon affect the Rocky mountain glaciers, and the torrents will pour their floods into the Missouri. From a private source we learn that the snow is very deep in the mountains; although it was much thinner on the plains than usual. Old miners away up on the head tributaries of the Missouri, predict "big water" when the influence of a June sun is felt in all its melting power on the mountain slopes.

—The Northwest Transportation company will run the steamers E. H. Durfee, Far West, Nellie Peck, Esperanza and Ida Rees No. 2 between Sioux City and Fort Benton. Mr. E. H. Durfee has been elected president, C. K. Peck is secretary, S. B. Coulson superintendent, and J. P. Dunlevy traveling agent. Messrs. Erfurt & Petring have been appointed agents of the company in St. Louis.

—The Nashville Republican Banner, of yesterday, says: "The steamer George S. Kinney, recently built by Mr. Culley, on the Edgefield side of the river, was surveyed by Mr. Adam Wolf, custom-house officer, yesterday, and found to measure 100 79-100 tons burthen. She will be completed and commence running in about two weeks."

—The Louisville Courier says: One of the three barges belonging to N. J. Bigley, which were sunk on the rocks to the right of the head of the canal Thursday morning, has been pumped out and moved to the shore. The other two are still aground, but will be got afloat to-day or to-morrow.

—The firm of Stillwell, Powell & Co., of St. Louis, which failed a few days ago, was largely interested in steamboat stock. They owned, we believe, an interest in the Richmond, Dexter Pauline Carroll, Commonwealth, and probably four or five other boats.

—The barge Lowry No. 3, towed by the steamer Friendship, struck and was sunk a few days ago at Caseyville. She had 300 tons of iron from the Kingsland ironworks. Loss, $10,000; fully insured.

—The John T. Moore made the run from New Orleans to Shreveport in two days and eighteen hours, the quickest time of the season.

Keep Your Houses Clean, AND SAVE FUEL.

BY USING THE

Wellman Patent Reflector STOVE AND GRATE.

Which Stand Without a Rival.

The WELLMAN STOVE is furnished with the "REFLECTOR GRATE," and possesses all the advantages of an open fire place; it is specially adapted to houses where the flues are too small to admit a grate, and affords all the comforts of a CHEERFUL OPEN FIRE.

1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity of any other grate.

2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—no soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.

3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.

4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.

5th. It is highly ornamental.

6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.

7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 3d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 66 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing Grates, are respectfully requested to examine "The Wellman." Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases.

Pittsburgh, April 17, 1871.—MESSRS. EDITORS.—You will please correct an error in Saturday's GAZETTE by stating that Mr. G. C. Hambright has held the office of Marshal in the "Franklin Literary Society" since March 17, 1871. Yours, &c.,

FIRST CRITIC.

The American Working People, a new monthly double quarto size, devoted to the interests of the laboring and mechanical classes, has made its appearance among the journals of this city. It is published by the "Iron World Publishing company," and is a very spicy, well-edited and readable journal.

Larceny.—Harry Kenner alleged in an information before Alderman Taylor yesterday that Isaac Whetts had appropriated twenty dollars, committed to his care by the prosecutor, to his own use and benefit. Officer Murdoch has a mandate for Isaac to appear before the Alderman and give an explanation of the matter.

Disorderly Conduct.—William Campbell yesterday before Alderman Morrow preferred a charge of disorderly conduct against John Campbell. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant came to his house, called him names and behaved in such a disorderly manner generally as to attract the attention of the neighbors. A warrant was issued.

Temperance Meeting.—The Y. M. C. Temperance Association will hold their regular weekly meeting to-night at the Home, Duquesne Way, between Eighth and Ninth street. The romantic three-act play entitled the "Iron Chest," and the amusing comedy, "Irish Assurance" will be presented. Doors open at 7; performance will commence at 7½ o'clock.

Kicked Down Stairs.—Bella Allen preferred a charge of surety of the peace yesterday before Alderman McMasters against Richard Wilson, tavern keeper at the foot of Virgin alley. She alleges that she went to the door of Richard's room and called him, when he rushed out and kicked her down stairs. The accused was arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

Yesterday morning as a car on the Pleasant Valley Railway was being hauled along North Diamond street, Allegheny, the bit in one of horses mouth broke and the animal became frightened and tried to runaway. Real Estate.

There is no city in the Union where Real Estate has grown in value as rapidly as Pittsburgh. Real Estate that sold from three to five hundred dollars per acre five years ago is now worth as many thousands. On our first page to-day just see the property as offered by C. B. Seeley, No. 87 Fifth avenue. These lots can be bought at a price, that, in a few years, five times the amount will not buy them. Parties wishing to invest can get the full particulars by calling at the above number.

Young Men's Christian Association.

The Executive Committee of the State Young Men's Christian Association has made arrangements for the holding of a number of District Laymen's Conventions throughout Pennsylvania. The first of these will be held at Burgettstown on April 28, and others will follow at intervals at different points, until the close of May. The series of conventions will be closed at York on the 23d of May with a grand reunion as a preparation for the International Convention to be held at Washington, May 24.

Mercantile Broker.

Among those engaged in this business in the city, no one perhaps, has more experience or more skill, or manages his agencies with more intelligence and probity than Mr. Joseph R. Hunter, who has his office at No. 231 Liberty street, where in addition to a general merchandise brokerage, he has the agency of the Celebrated Lard Oil Manufacturers, Proctor & Gamble, of Cincinnati. This firm and all others who may confide their business to Mr. Hunter, will deem themselves fortunate in having an agent so energetic and prompt, and a correspondent always well informed and reliable.

Barbero Prosecutes.

Samuel Barbero charged Mary Ecor before Alderman Strain yesterday with keeping a house for improper purposes on Liberty street. The prosecutor occupies the first floor of the house and states that the accused, who lives on the second floor, allows disreputable persons of both sexes to congregate in her part of the house for illegal purposes.

He also preferred a charge of aggravated assault and battery before the same magistrate against his wife, Julia Barbero, alleging that she struck him over the head and ear with a glass stand and a plate. Warrants were issued for the arrest of both the accused.

Drowning of John Buckalew.

The body of John Buckalew, who was drowned in the Allegheny river, Sunday afnoon, by the capsizing of a sail boat, has not yet been found. Parties are still engaged in dragging the river, and every effort is being made to discover it. As an additional incentive to exertion, as will be seen in another column, a reward of $100 is offered for the finding of the body. The friends of the deceased are greatly distressed at the sad occurrence, which has brought grief into their midst and so suddenly terminated the existence of one who had scarcely entered upon the activities of life.

Pistol Practice on Fifth Avenue.

Yesterday morning a difficulty occurred between James Gordon and B. F. Cox which created some excitement on Fifth avenue. Gordon it seems was standing on the sidewalk in front of the Fifth avenue house somewhat intoxicated, he observed Cox laughing, he at once suspected himself to be the cause of the merriment and so expressed himself to Cox who denied it. Gordon however was not satisfied and became belligerent, then as Cox shoved him to one side he drew a revolver and fired twice. By this time officer Dan Silous appeard and took Gordon in charge. Cox followed them to the Mayor's office and made information against Gordon for felonious assault and battery. The accused waived a hearing and gave bail for a Court

Medicinal Waters.

James E. Burns & Co. have, in addition to all the nicely flavored syrups to furnish their magnificent marble palace fountain, just received invoices of 100 packages of medicinal waters, including the Hathorn and Congress waters of Saratoga, the magnetic waters of St. Louis, Michigan and the Blue Lick waters of Kentucky, all fresh from their native fountains, and for sale in all quantities at their store, corner of Penn and Sixth streets. The waters here specified are unsurpassed by any in the world for the cure of the diseases to which they are specially adapted, such as intestinal derangements, chronic rheumatism and neuralgia, and affections of the kidney and bladder. Many expensive journeys may be saved by resorting to Burns' for these health-giving waters.

Stabbing Affray.

Yesterday afternoon a German named Adolph Bengel was made the victim of an unprovoked attack, which almost cost him his life. He was standing at the bar of a saloon on Water street, when an intoxicated fellow came in and addressed him as "My little Dutchman," following up his words with a slap on the shoulder. Bengel was not pleased with the familiarity and pushed the man to one side, which angered him. The stranger immediately drew a knife and made three vigorous lunges at Bengel, who was cut each time. One of the cuts was right over the heart, and had not the point of the knife been stopped by a rib, it would undoubtedly have killed him. The assailant by this time was arrested and given in charge of the police. At the lock-up he refused to give his name, and he was held for a hearing this morning.

A Practical Joke.

James Burns, who was charged with dealing in counterfeit money, was called up before U. S. Commissioner McCandless yesterday afternoon for a hearing. The result was the concentrated essence of humor. Mary Evans, the prosecutrix, failed to put in appearance, but her place was filled by a jolly crew from the boat upon which Burns had been employed. All of these testified that the whole affair was "a little joke" which had been put up on Burns. That they had told Mary Evans the story of Burns's crime, that she believed the story and made the information, on information received. Half a dozen made affidavit to this effect, and the U. S. authorities could do nothing but discharge the lucky Burns.

He had been in jail from Friday afternoon, but was content to consider the matter "a joke," and departed with his humorous friends in the best of spirits. For a joke of the severely practical character, by which a man narrowly escaped the Penitentiary that certainly carries the palm.

DEDICATION OF THE MONUMENT.

Decoration in the Forenoon—Dedication in the Afternoon.

A meeting of the G. A. R. was held at the Hall of Hay Post 3, for the purpose of making arrangements for assisting at the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument and decorating the graves of soldiers on the 30th of May next.

The following Posts were represented: Post 3, City; Post 88, Allegheny city; Post 117, East Liberty, and Post 151, Birmingham.

On motion of Capt. Dalgleish, Comrade Smith, of Post 116 was called to the Chair, and D. A. Jones appointed Secretary.

On motion, Messrs. Montooth, Post 3, Woodwell, Post 116, Willock, Post 151, Dalgleish, Post 3 and Bonawitz, Post 88, were appointed a Committee on Resolutions.

Mr. Montooth, on behalf the Committee, presented the following reports:

MAJORITY REPORT.

Resolved, That the G. A. R. co-operate with the Ladies' Monumental Building Society in the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument, on May 30th, 1871.

Resolved, That all the Posts of the G. A. R. assemble at the Hall of Hay Post No. 3 on Fourth avenue at 10½ o'clock on the morning of the 30th of May for the purpose of forming the procession in a body.

Resolved, That Genl. A. L. Pearson, commanding the National Guard be requested to excuse in general orders all members of his command who are members of G. A. R. in order that they may unite with their respective Posts.

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Convention that every comrade of G. A. R. should consider his first duty due to the G. A. R. on Memorial Day, and that all comrades are earnestly requested to be present in the ranks of G. A. R. on that day.

W. M. DALGLEISH, No. 3,
J. S. WOODWELL, No. 117,
J. H. BONAWITZ, No. 88.

MINORITY REPORT.

Resolved, That in our opinion the 30th day of May, has been set apart in General Orders from G. A. R. Headquarters as a day to be devoted to decorating the graves of our fallen comrades, and that whilst we will cheerfully aid in dedicating the monument at any other time, we do not feel like yielding the time honored custom of decorating the graves on May 30th.

WM. F. WILLOCK, 151.
E. A. MONTOOTH. 3.

Mr. Montooth advocated at some length, and with considerable force, the adoption of the minority report, arguing that it would require nearly the whole day for that purpose, and that the members would be too much fatigued at the conclusion of those ceremonies to participate in the other.

Mr. Grayson, of Post 117, stated that he thought it was too much to expect the members of Posts from a distance to participate in both ceremonies. He stated that his Post is located at East Liberty, and by the time they march to, and decorate the graves in the cemeteries, they were nearly exhausted. He therefore favored the selection of another day for the dedication of the monument.

W. C. Cook, of Post 88, was opposed to the G. A. R. being compelled to participate in both ceremonies. He thought that if they carried out the objects of the institution of the ceremonies, viz: decorating the graves, that they would have as much as they could attend to in one day.

Mr. Joseph Gray, of Post 3, also thought the decoration of the graves would occupy the whole of the day, and that it would be impossible to do both properly. It had been complained in the public prints last year that the work of decorating the graves had not been properly done. He was, therefore, in favor of setting apart a day for the dedication of the monument.

In answer to a question, D. A. Jones stated that it was an understood rule of the Order that all graves shall be decorated on the 30th of May.

Mr. Crosby Gray, of Post 3, hoped that the minority report would not be adopted, as he believed it would be fruitful of much ill feeling between the National Guards, the Monumental Association and the G. A. R.

Mr. Hunter, of Post 3, moved that the further discussion of the matter be postponed, and that a committee of five be appointed to confer with the ladies of the Monumental Association to see if they would not select some other day for the dedication.

Mr. Jones held that the duty to decorate the graves on the 30th of May was paramount to all other duties, and supported the motion of Mr. Hunter.

Mr. Donaldson of Post 88 moved as a substitute for both reports, that part of the day, say till 12 o'clock, be devoted to decorating the graves, and the afternoon to dedicating the monument.

Mr. Smith of Post 3 favored the views of the last speaker.

Mr. E. A. Montooth was in favor of compromising, and in favor of the motion of Mr. Hunter to postpone the matter for one week.

Mr. J. Gray favored the substitute, and hoped that the question would be settled at this meeting.

Mr. Crosby Gray moved to lay the substitute on the table. Lost.

The question then recurred on the substitute, which was carried.

Colonel Kilgore moved that a committee of three be appointed to wait on General Pearson and ask him not to issue his order calling out the National Guards until two o'clock on Decoration Day. Carried.

The Chair appointed Messrs. Kilgore, Jones and Donaldson said committee.

Colonel Kilgore moved that the friends and relatives of deceased soldiers be requested to mark their graves previous to Decoration Day. Carried.

On motion, adjourned.

THE NEW SOCIETY.

Active Measures to be Instituted—The Ladies to be Interested.

Yesterday afternoon the officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held a meeting in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association on Sixth avenue.

The President, Hon. Thomas M. Howe, being absent, Vice President James Park, Jr., was called upon to preside.

An informal discussion of the object of the organization was then entered into, at the close of which a resolution was adopted instructing the Secretary, Mr. Thomas K. Cree to proceed to New York and Philadelphia, and make a thorough inspection of the workings of the organizations there, learn their method of raising funds, officers, and manner of obtaining active workers, and procure all the necessary books, cards of membership, and such other information as might be deemed of importance to the perfect working of the system. He was also instructed to stop in Harrisburg and secure a charter of incorporation from the Legislature.

Some discussion then ensued upon the best method of securing the co-operation of the ladies in the society, and Mrs. James D. Verner and Mrs. J. M. Knap were appointed a committee to call a meeting of ladies at any time they might deem suitable, to consider the matter.

The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the Secretary, when he is ready to report upon his return.

SERIOUS CASUALTY.

Man Run Over—His Ankles Crushed.

Frank Welsh, a heater at Shoenberger's rolling mill, met with a very serious accident between one and two o'clock yesterday afternoon, which will probably result in maiming him for life. He got on to the front platform of car No. 36, Citizen's Passenger Railway, at the Pittsburgh Station, to ride up town, and fell asleep. Just as the car was in front of Alderman Taylor's office, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, he fell off, the car passing over his ankles, crushing them fearfully. He was picked up and carried into the New York Hotel, and his injuries attended to. No blame attaches to either the driver or conductor.

What Others Think of It.

The New York Commercial Advertiser in an editorial under the caption "A New Railroad," has this to say of the Connellsville Railroad, which will be found interesting as an outsider's view of the great enterprise:

"Connellsville, Pennsylvania, is a town not known to fame. It has, however, been reached by a railroad within a few days, and now it is a pivotal point upon which a vast amount of western traffic will turn. Connellsville is in Fayette county, and the railroad which reaches it is a short one from Pittsburgh. The contest for the road has been a long one, for important interests were at stake both to the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pennsylvania Central, and the former has come off triumphant. It opens a new and inviting way to the seaboard, to Baltimore, Washington and Richmond, and avoids the circuitous route by way of Harrisburg. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has now three advantageous communications with the West. From Cumberland, where the road from Connellsville comes in, it has branches to the Ohio River at Parkersburg, at Wheeling and at Pittsburgh, with lines radiating from these points over all the West. There is also under construction an air line from Pittsburgh to Chicago. A new trade is springing up of which the Chicago Tribune says: "Our trade with Baltimore is daily increasing. The European steamers from Baltimore make that city a competing market for breadstuffs and provisions with New York, and the shortening of the line of travel by 100 to 150 miles gives to the more Southern points all the advantages of time, certainty and lower freights. Already a large return trade has set in, and dealers in all parts of the West are already finding the Monumental City a good place to buy in." The new air line will make the connection closer, and in the very nature of things it is a competing line opposed in toto to this city and to Philadelphia. It threatens to bring to a crucial test the statement that the transportation business to and from the West will pass into the hands of that line of railway having the shortest distance to run, the smallest amount of "water" in its capital stock, the best market for export and import, and the most reasonable rates. Let our railway kings be warned in time. They can save to New York the great trade by which it has maintained its commercial supremacy, but they must be prepared to meet the combinations of powerful rivals and the restless enterprise with which other cities of the seaboard are pushing out their communications with the great producing regions of he West."

Rev. Theodore Lyman, D.D.

This reverend gentleman, who was Rector of Trinity parish in this city for ten years, and who has resided with his family in different parts of Europe during the past ten years, has returned to this country, and has accepted a call to the Rectorship of Trinity Episcopal Church, in San Francisco into which he was recently instituted.

At the first convocation of the Diocese of California, held at the Church of the Advent in San Francisco, on the 14th of March, Doctor Lyman, preached, by request, a sermon on "Co-operation in Church Work," a copy of which, neatly printed, has been kindly forwarded to us. While we know it would give much pleasure to many of our readers to see this sermon in the GAZETTE, we regret that we have only space to say that it is worthy of the distinguished author, and abounds with evidences that he is not less earnestly or eloquently the advocate of vigorous aggressive movement in the work of church extension in California than he was in Pennsylvania. We predict and hope that the people of San Francisco will feel, ere long, the value of the acquisition they have secured in Doctor Lyman as sensibly as we of Pittsburgh felt the loss of him some years ago.

Doubled His Sentence.

Washington Colville by his efforts to get away from Claremont where he had been sent as a vagrant for thirty days has succeeded in securing a lease for sixty days longer. It seems he did escape but was capturred after enjoying a couple of days freedom. Under a recent act of the Legislature, any person who escapes from the workhouse, when recaptured may be returned for double the original limitation of his term. Superintendant Cordier determined to make an example of Washington and hence made an information against him before Mayor Brush which resulted in his committal for sixty days. This is the first case under the new act.

THE COURTS.

Yesterday's Courts.

CRIMINAL COURT—JUDGE COLLIER.

The first case taken up yesterday morning was that of Abraham Fox, charged with having retained ten dollars belonging to Thomas Branigan, which the latter had loaned him. The indictment contained four counts—the first and third for larceny as bailee, and the second and fourth for larceny. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on the third count. Sentence deferred.

The next case taken up was that of G. S. Graff, indicted for embezzlement. The prosecutor, Nicholas Siebert, of the firm of M. Siebert & Co., furniture dealers, alleged that Graff obtained from the firm goods to the amount of $352, to be sold on commission. Graff sold the goods, but failed to return to Siebert & Co. the proceeds, less the commission. Jury out.

The case of the five lads, charged with entering the Birmingham railway station, on Grant street, with the intention of robbery, was next taken up. The names of the lads are James Hughes, William Flinn, Mike Bradford, James Dalsey and John Crilly, and the alleged offense was committed on the night of the 12th of March. Robert Kirkwood, superintendent of the Birmingham railway company, appears as prosecutor.

When the jurors had been sworn in this case Court adjourned until nine o'clock this morning.

Pittsburgh Enterprise.

We clip the from the Colorado Miner of the 6st inst. printed at Georgetown in that Territory, the following account of the operations and prospects of the Allegheny Silver Mining Company of Pittsburgh. This is one of the many mines in Colorado and other mineral districts that are being developed with Pittsburgh capital, and for account of Pittsburgh owners. We hope that it and all others in which our people are interested may prove to be mines of wealth and that we may become the happy owners of some little share of the precious ores.

Last week we visited the Glen Albine lode, on Republican mountain, the property of the Alleghany S. M. Co., of Pittsburgh, Penna. This lode, although one of the earliest discoveries on the mountain, has been permitted to lie idle for some time. A short time since, however, Mr. Harry Campbell, the Superintendent of the above named Company, on examining the lode became convinced that it was a good one and commenced developing it. At the time of our visit to the lode the shaft had reached a depth of about thirty feet, and drifting to the west had commenced. In this drift there is a pay vein of from three to five inches of mineral, consisting of galena, oxide of lead and a slight trace of copper pyrites. An examination of the lode, to the west of the shaft, disclosed mineral on the surface, and fine specimens of galena were obtained immediately under the grass roots; six cuts, lately made on the west half of the lode, showing mineral in each. Mr. Campbell informs us that it is proposed to drift from the bottom of the shaft out the to surface, and in this way avoid the necessity of any hoisting of rock or mineral. The mine will be opened by drifting to the west, and the topography of the hill will allow of good depth being obtained. No late assays of the Glen Albine lode have been made, and therefore its value is not definitely known. The mineral found, however, is a very pure galena and oxide of lead and will run fully 80 per cent. in lead. The ore on that part of Republican mountain where the Glen Albine lode is situated, is usually rich in silver, and there seems to be no doubt but that Mr. Campbell is now coming to the richest part of his mine. We think that a little more development is all that is required to prove the Glen Albine to be a good mine and one carrying a strong pay vein of valuable ore.

Since writing the above we learn that the character of the ore in the Glen Albine lode has changed, and that there is now about six inches of galena intermixed with sulphurets, stained with blue and green carbonates of copper. It is quite evident that the coarse galena found at first is about to give way to the rich ore usually found in Republican mountain, and that the Glen Albine is to be one of the best lodes on the mountain.

Death of John T. Logan.

The many friends of this gentleman, those who have known him longest and best, and esteemed him most will not be surprised to hear of his death, nor, while they have sincerely lamented his very severe and protracted sickness, can they feel the usual emotion of regret that a valued and worthy friend is no more, since this friend is thereby relieved of pain and suffering, almost impossible to bear, and since the disease was of a nature hopeless of relief except in death. The death under such circumstances, of a good man, is but a transition from gloom and misery to joy and blessedness, and as such should not be regretted.

Mr. Logan came to this city about 40 years ago, and with Mr. R. T. Kennedy, established the firm of Logan & Kennedy, importers and dealers in hardware. After some years of successful business, Mr. Kennedy withdrew to engage in manufacturing, and Mr. Edward Gregg was taken into the hardware firm, which has since continued under the name of Logan, Gregg & Co., which embraces also a son of the senior Mr. Logan. The subject of this notice was some years ago stricken with paralysis, from which he partially recovered, but subsequent attacks compelled him to relinquish all attention to business, and for some time past his condition has been without hope of recovery. He died on Sunday, the 16th inst., and will be buried at ten o'clock to-morrow. During his long and active mercantile career, he was remarkable for industry and devotion to business, and for uniform and strict probity in all his dealings. His integrity was above suspicion. Such a character deserved the success that crowned his labors. He leaves a handsome fortune to a family that will emulate their father's prudence in a judicious care and wise use of it.

A Loving Bridegroom.

Peter Wickline, who was married a few days ago, is a bridegroom of tender and affectionate feeling which he exhibited in a marked degree yesterday. It seems the hymenial ceremony was an occasion of such joy to Peter that he immediately began dealing largely in spirits, and arrived at a proper stage yesterday afternoon to make the fact known to his matrimonial partner. Coming home he locked that female in a room and then proceeded in the exuberance of his spirits to trounce her with all his power. Her screams attracted the attention of the neighbors who broke into the room just as he was in the act of making an attack upon his victim with a knife. He was taken to the lock-up and followed by the vengeful form of his irate mother-in-law who as all mothers-in-law should, interfered in the case and preferred three informations for felonious assault and battery, surety of the peace and disorderly conduct against her recreant son-in-law. He was held for an official investigation of the matter this morning.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—"Help" was not played to as large an audience last night as graced its representations last week. We regret this, for the reason that we would like to have seen the new management greeted by an overflowing house on the opening night. "Help" will be repeated to-night, when we hope the omission will be remedied.

FIFTH AVENUE OPERA HOUSE.—Manager Beamer's new combination met with a glorious success on their initial performance last night. The artists composing it separately and collectively were received with unbounded applause by a large and appreciative audience. Miss Minnie Jackson and Messrs. Carter, Lee and Guion in their various specialties at once established their right to be classed as artists of ability second to none in their line, while Larry Tooley the great Dutch specialist, under the inspiring influence of a large house, if possible surpassed himself. There will be an immense bill for this evening in which all the favorites, both new and old will appear.

TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES.—Jester, the man whose wonderful hand takes the place of his tongue and conveys all the thoughts and emotions that actuate him, took everything and everybody by storm last night. The house was crowded to overflowing and everything connected with the entertainment went off to the delight and satisfaction of the audience. An amusing bill is offered for to-night.

MASONIC HALL.—Professor McCallister's opening seance was a success in every way. The tricks were all new, and were performed with an adroitness and seeming super-human power that would have subjected the Professor, in a not very remote age, to the stake as a wizard, or one in league with the powers of darkness. There will be an entire change of programme, except in the very popular feature of giving away one hundred magnificent presents, this evening.

CITY HALL—The fair being held at this hall for the purpose of rising funds with which to rebuild St. Bridgets Church, is a most delightful place to spend an evening, and was largely attended. The booths are filled with every article, both useful and ornamental that can be desired, and are presided over by beautiful and most obliging young ladies. A pleasanter place to spend an evening, or worthier object to which to contribute your money is not to be found in the city.

Alderman Shore.

James Chalfant made oath before Alderman Shore yesterday against Abraham Reed, for surety of the peace. He states that the accused threatened to kill him, "even if he should have to go the Penitentiary for it." Committed for Court.

Joseph Haney made an information before the same magistrate against the defendant in the above case for robbery. He alleges that on Saturday evening Reed, in the saloon kept by a man named Hardy, on the corner of Arthurs street and Wylie avenue, picked his pocket of $35. Committed for Court in default of $1,500.

Alderman Shore also heard the complaint of Jim Williams, charging Catharine Moore with surety of the peace. The complainant alleges that he was sitting in the house of the accused yesterday and accidently broke the chair, when she flew at him and threatened "to put more holes in his body than the doctors could fix up, and 'fore God, 'Squire, I believe she'd do it." A warrant was issued.

While Jim was making the above information officer Bell brought forth from the capacious recesses of his pockets a warrant issued on oath of Kate Fane, in February last, charging Jim with the larceny of one dollar. He was held for a hearing.

Farewell Banquet.

The friends, and many of the patrons of Mr. M. W. Canning, manager of the Pittsburgh Opera House for the past four years, met by invitation last evening in the parlors of Mr. W. C. Smythe, author of "The Good Fight" and other dramas, and city editor of the Dispatch, for the purpose of partaking of a farewell banquet given by that gentleman in honor of Mr. Canning. After partaking of a most sumptuous repast, composed of all the substantials and delicacies of the season, the cloth was removed and wines and liquors of both native and foreign vintage were introduced. With the introduction of these, Mr. Smythe, the genial host, proposed the health of M. W. Canning, the manager, who for four years had so nobly, so faithfully catered for the amusement and entertainment of the Pittsburgh amusement-going public.

Mr. Canning responded in a short address expressive of his appreciation of the kindness which prompted the sentiment, and stated that wherever his lot for the future may be cast he would always look back upon his connection with Pittsburgh as one of the brightest periods of his existence.

Attempt to Steal a Horse.

Yesterday afternoon a predatory thief was passing along Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny, saw a horse standing in an open field, and at once, true to his instinct, took charge of and started off with the animal. The owner, Mr. Jacob Foerster, observed his actions, and called upon him to stop. He failed to heed the call, and was a second time halted by another person, who recognized the horse. The second remonstance excited his wrath, and he attacked the remonstrant. Help, however came and the thief was bound hand and foot to a post. While a messenger was sent for the police, he managed to unloose himself and get away, but a vigorous pursuit was inaugurated and he finally was captured and taken to the lock up. He refused to give his name and will have a hearing this morning.

Houses Entered at McKeesport.

Some time on Saturday morning Keil's tavern at McKeesport was entered through the cellar by some adroit thief, who passed into the chamber occupied by himself and wife, and stole a silver watch and what money was in his pantaloons pockets.

Mr. Herman Seibert's house was also entered and a small sum of money taken from a trunk in the room in which he was sleeping.

Christian Becker's house was entered the same night and a sum of money stolen from a peddler lodging there.

These robberies are evidently all the work of the same person, and in each case there were parties sleeping in the rooms entered, thus showing that he was no novice in the business.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH,
164 Fourth avenue, Mar. 11, 1871.

As our city is liable a visitation of that terrible disease, small pox, (it being now very prevalent in some of the Eastern cities), we would urge upon our citizens the importance of immediate vaccination. The Physician of the Board of Health will be in attendance at the office of the Board, No. 164 Fourth avenue, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, from 2 to 3 P. M. for the purpose of gratuitous vaccination, and all persons are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity.

By order of the Board of Health,
eod:1m. CROSBY GRAY, Health Officer.

Yesterday's papers announced that Elizabeth Cady Stanton had seen the error of her ways and concluded to take unto herself a husband. There still remain certain things to be done that will tend to relieve the minds of a certain class of our citizens who are not the best friends of this noble woman. Her intended should see that she buys her furniture at C. A. Boucher's, No. 45 Smithfield street. Mr. B. has the articles on hand she wants, strong and durable and warranted to stand the knocking down of a husband daily. He also has a very fine stock of parlor and drawing-room furniture, just the kind necessary to entertain their friends in good style. Remember, everyone, that 45 is the place to buy your furniture.

For the past twelve months I have used almost exclusively, your "Barbers' Soap," and I cheerfully bear my witness to its superiority. It is far more pleasant than the highly scented French soaps, or the imitations that are so commonly used, and is much more durable and economical, either for shaving or for use in the bath. I am certain it only needs a fair trial to commend it to very general favor; besides being a home manufacture, it is a superior article that justly merits commendation. Licensed Gambling.

Hong Kong, and the gambling houses licensed in this English colony, has again attracted the attention of the British Parliament. For the last three years, it is stated, the government of the colony has derived an annual income of $250,000 from the tax levied on the gambling houses. During the years 1868 and 1869 the tax of seven per cent. on the money won at the gaming tables yielded $373,616, showing that in the period mentioned $5,337,371 changed hands. Additional statistics show that this sum was the aggregate of the moneys staked by the daily average of 14,631 players, and the calculation proves that one-eighth of the entire population, men, women, children, Europeans and Chinese, frequented the gaming tables. This encouragement of gambling has proved highly pernicious to Hong Kong, and at every session of the Criminal Courts the Judges make forcible allusions to the deleterious influence of the system of licensing public gaming tables.

Two members of a prospecting party met with a sad fate on the western plains lately. An Omaha telegram informs us that on Monday last some men who were looking at Western lands were overtaken by a storm about one hundred and twenty miles west of that city. Three of the party took refuge in a hut, while two started for a barn half a mile distant to put up their horses, but so blinding was the storm that both lost their way. One of them was fonnd in the barn, and the other, named Henry, was found, after the storm, frozen to death.

IT IS rumored that Younger and Porter who murdered Charles B. Nichols and Mr. McMahan, at Scyene, Texas, on the 16th of January last, have killed two men and wounded two others since then. The ruffian fugitives were on board a ferry boat, about to cross the Red River, when the Sheriff of the county, (what county is not stated,) with three men, rode to the bank of the river, whereupon the murderers asked the ferryman who they were, and upon being answered that they were the Sheriff and a posse, they at once opened fire, killing the Sheriff and another man instantly, and wounding the other two men.

THE following is given as an example of the far fetched pun. It is introduced as not only difficult, but somewhat disgusting, and as indicating a total indifference to the feelings of the reader:

A youthful hen found an egg, and yielding to the vernal instinct, sat upon it until the process of incubation was complete. Her mother, who had laid the egg, and had taken great pains in shaping and coloring it, came and, seeing only the broken shell, burst into tears and said "Alas! my daughter, who has destroyed my favorite egg?" The feathered offspring quickly responded: "I cannot tell a lie, mother; I cannot tell a lie; I did it with my little hatch it."

IT may not be generally known that the art treasures of the Louvre are no longer in Paris. When some of the Prussian officers in the French capital asked to see those celebrated pictures and sculptures they were told they had been enveloped in linen and hidden away in the vaults of the building to preserve them from the dreaded effects of the bombardment. But it now appears from recent advices from Paris that these chef d'oeuvres were, by orders of the Government, long ago removed to certain departments of France, far out of danger of any Prussian advance. The places where the magnificent canvasses of Raphael, Titian, Reubens and Paul Veronese are hidden are known only to a few members of the Government.

The Mobile (Ala.) Tribune is responsible for the following: "A very nice young gentleman, whose name we do not deem necessary to ventilate, recently invested a small sum in chickens, which he undertook to take home on the Dauphin street cars. After proceeding a short distance the attention of all the passengers, a large proportion of whom were ladies, was called to him by one of his purchases raising a loud and continued cackle. In vain he tried to quiet the bird; the ladies "tittered" and pulled down their vails; the gentlemen on board "hawhawed," and our young friend, in his ignorance of "the situation," the cynosure of all eyes, cast a look into his lap, and, behold, there was an egg. He immediately quit the car and pursued his way homeward on foot. Imagine his 'pheelinks.'"

THE Hebrew News is a new weekly paper in New York. The greater part of it is printed in Hebrew characters. The editor, in explanation, says: Thousands of our fellow-citizens who have come from Eastern European countries are unable to read either German or English, but only Hebrew letters, while they have received the education suited to the requirements of their native country, and possess knowledge and business capacities; they, in this busy country, can find no time to acquire a knowledge of reading and writing the language of their new home. Many thousands are large property owners, carrying on extensive business. Others are honest mechanics. Still they feel themselves deprived of that which is so dear to them—the news of the country which they consider their own."

PRINCE ALFRED, Queen Victoria's second son, has been to Ceylon on a hunting and fishing expedition, and a correspondent of the London Times, who seems to have been there, has published a book about it. Among other interesting statements, he tells us that fish of all varieties were so numerous in the rivers that they sprang into the boats of the party as they paddled along, one of them jumping into the Prince's coat pocket! He also mentions the fact that the alligators—of which there were so many that the snapping of their jaws, as they ate the fishes about them, was incessantly heard—indulged themselves with vicious, but fortunately unsuccessful, bites at the heads of such of the party as bent too far down over the gunwale. Nature suggests to this interesting writer that possibly alligators are found in Ceylon. We would add the suggestion that crocodiles are.

GEO. HAHN, who resided at Quitman some months ago, sent his wife to Whistler, five miles above Mobile, to Dr. L. Martinez for treatment. It is said that the Doctor violated confidence and made improper advances to her. After her return home a correspondence was commenced by him, but the letters were intercepted. Last Saturday Mr. Hahn proceeded to Whistler, taking with him the letters and two of the ladies relatives. He arrived their at 9 a. m., proceeded to the doctor's office and fired twice at the doctor, who was sitting in a back room by a table; the first shot entering Dr. Martinez's head and the second his heart. He never moved out of the chair; his body fell over against the table; he breathed heavily for a few minutes and the vital spark fled. Mr. Hahn surrendred and was taken into custody, carried to Mobile, and committed to jail to await an examination.

The body had apparently been for some time in the water, and was that of a child some seven years of age, and three feet and eight inches in heighth. It was clad in dark blue jean pants, nearly new, and red flannel shirt cut low in the neck. The pants were buttoned to the waist, and had gutta percha buttons with elastics around the bottoms of each leg. No shoes or socks were found on either foot. The hair was dark and cut short, and a small sore was apparent upon the left leg near the knee. The Coroner's Jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning, and the corpse was buried upon the bank of the river where it lay.

The Reichstag.

The Parliament of the German Empire, which has just met for the first time in nearly fifty years, was elected by manhood suffrage and by ballot, and consists of 383 members, or one representative for about one hundred thousand persons. The Parliament, which is established upon the basis of the new Constitution, ratified by the States composing the Empire, has 236 members from Prussia, 48 from Bavaria, 23 from Saxony, 18 from Wurtemberg, 14 from Baden, 9 from Hesse and 35 from the minor States of the North, making 383 in all. The relative strength of the political parties is said to be as follows: Conservatives, 70, of whom 60 represent the Prussian country gentlemen interest. The British Census Returns.

Thirty-two thousand men began on the 3d instant to take the census returns of Great Britain. An interesting circular from the Register General, concerning this enumeration, contains the following:

The first census was taken under Mr. Pitt's administration in 1801. It was the year of the union with Ireland; a year of famine, and a year of sanguinary war with France, having the Northern Confederacy for its allies. England, in 1871, will take her census in peace. The population of Great Britain was estimated at 7,392,000 in 1751. Manufacturers and the large towns increased, but emigration was commencing, and some country villages were deserted in the last half of the century. Dr. Price contended that there was an absolute decay of the population. This gave rise to a protracted controversy, which, in the critical state of the country, it was important to clear up. The population of Great Britain was hence enumerated in 1801, and amounted to 10,834,623, which, with that of Ireland, made above 16,000,000. This was a triumphant reply to the doubts of those who despaired of their country. Notwithstanding the war, the population increased, as the census showed, at the rate of two or three millions every ten years until 1841. Then immense emigrations took place; there was a depopulating famine in Ireland, which had an imperfect Poor Law, and cholera was epidemic; yet the population of Great Britain increased, and although the population of Ireland fell off, the enumerated people of the United Kingdom, including the islands in the British Seas, amounted to 27,724,849 in 1851, and to 29,321,288 in 1861. Since those dates there have been immense emigrations, but the marriages have increased the births have exceeded the deaths, and the mortality of the towns have been diminished by sanitary measures.
